Inspired by religious fervor and missionary zeal, Father Junipero Serra traveled the coastal areas of California founding missions along the route of the El Camino Real. These became sanctuaries of worship, and resting places for weary travelers. Born November 24, 1713, Father Serra auspiciously began Mission San Buenaventura instituting the genesis of Ventura. Today the chapel stands moot testimony to Father Serra's humbly following his duty to spread Christianity.

We who live in historical San Buena-ventura have a heritage rich beyond all knowing. It is the heritage of beauty. . . . The beauty of sweeping shores, undulating waves, craggy monarchs overlooking an azure horizon. Stilted on waving contours rise onyx masses of the Channel Islands.

Recreational, occupational, and magic moments of life are ours for the seeking in our own realm of being.

We, the staff of this book, have attempted to synthesize, this centennial year past, the historical lineage of our ancestry with the present affluent society students enjoy today.

For the 1967 edition of the Conquistador, our task has been the keeping of a pictorial record of the school year. We have tried to include the many activities, both social and scholastic, which make a year complete.

Sally,
You're really sweet, so stay that way, and don't forget to have some fun too. Love always, Mary Hargreaves

Serving as a symbol of the past and as a tribute to the work of the peasants and clergy, this cart tells stories of past effort and diligence. The erection of early Ventura was due to the efforts of the men and women who contributed labor, time, and endurance with this primitive mode of freighting.

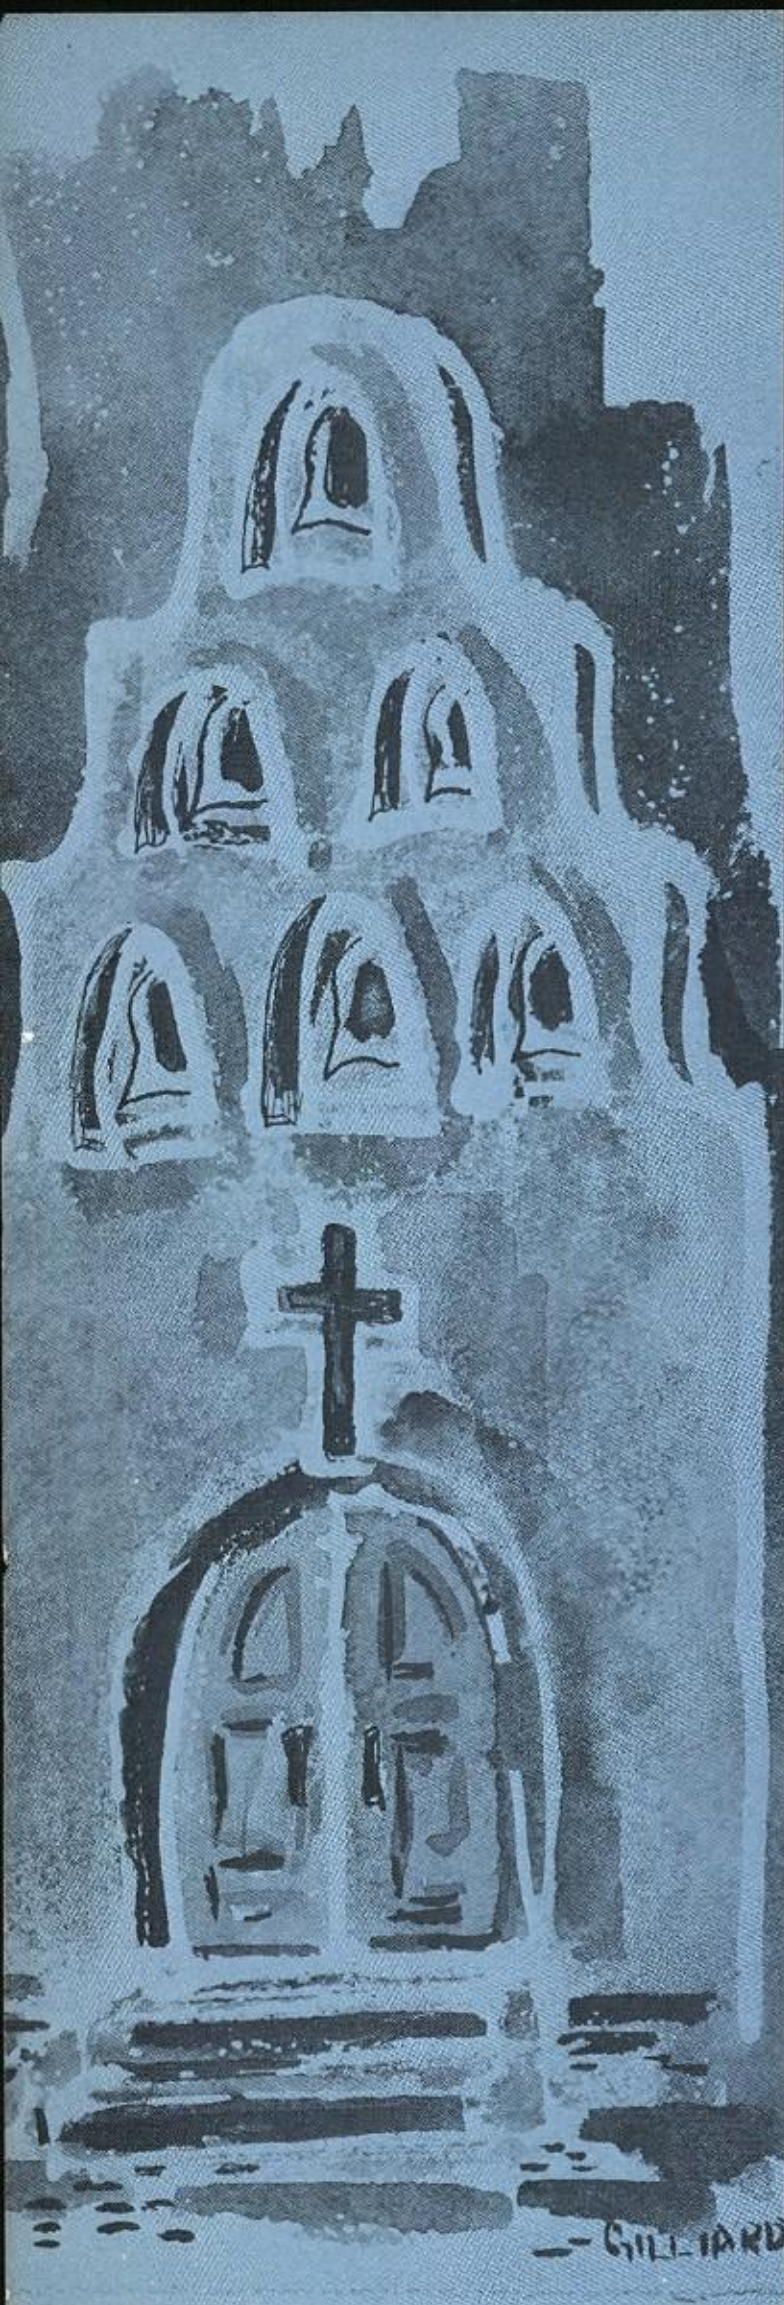

Sally
I hope you're going to UC. So we can have some fun
like in Study Hall
Remember Otward

mine? - See ya
this summer -
Kathy X.

Sally,
You're a real sweet and cute girl and I've enjoyed knowing you this year. Too bad it was waiting for that stupid bus.
Remember the time
we had to walk home? Be good and have a nice summer.
Love,
Kathy Kelly

FOREWORD

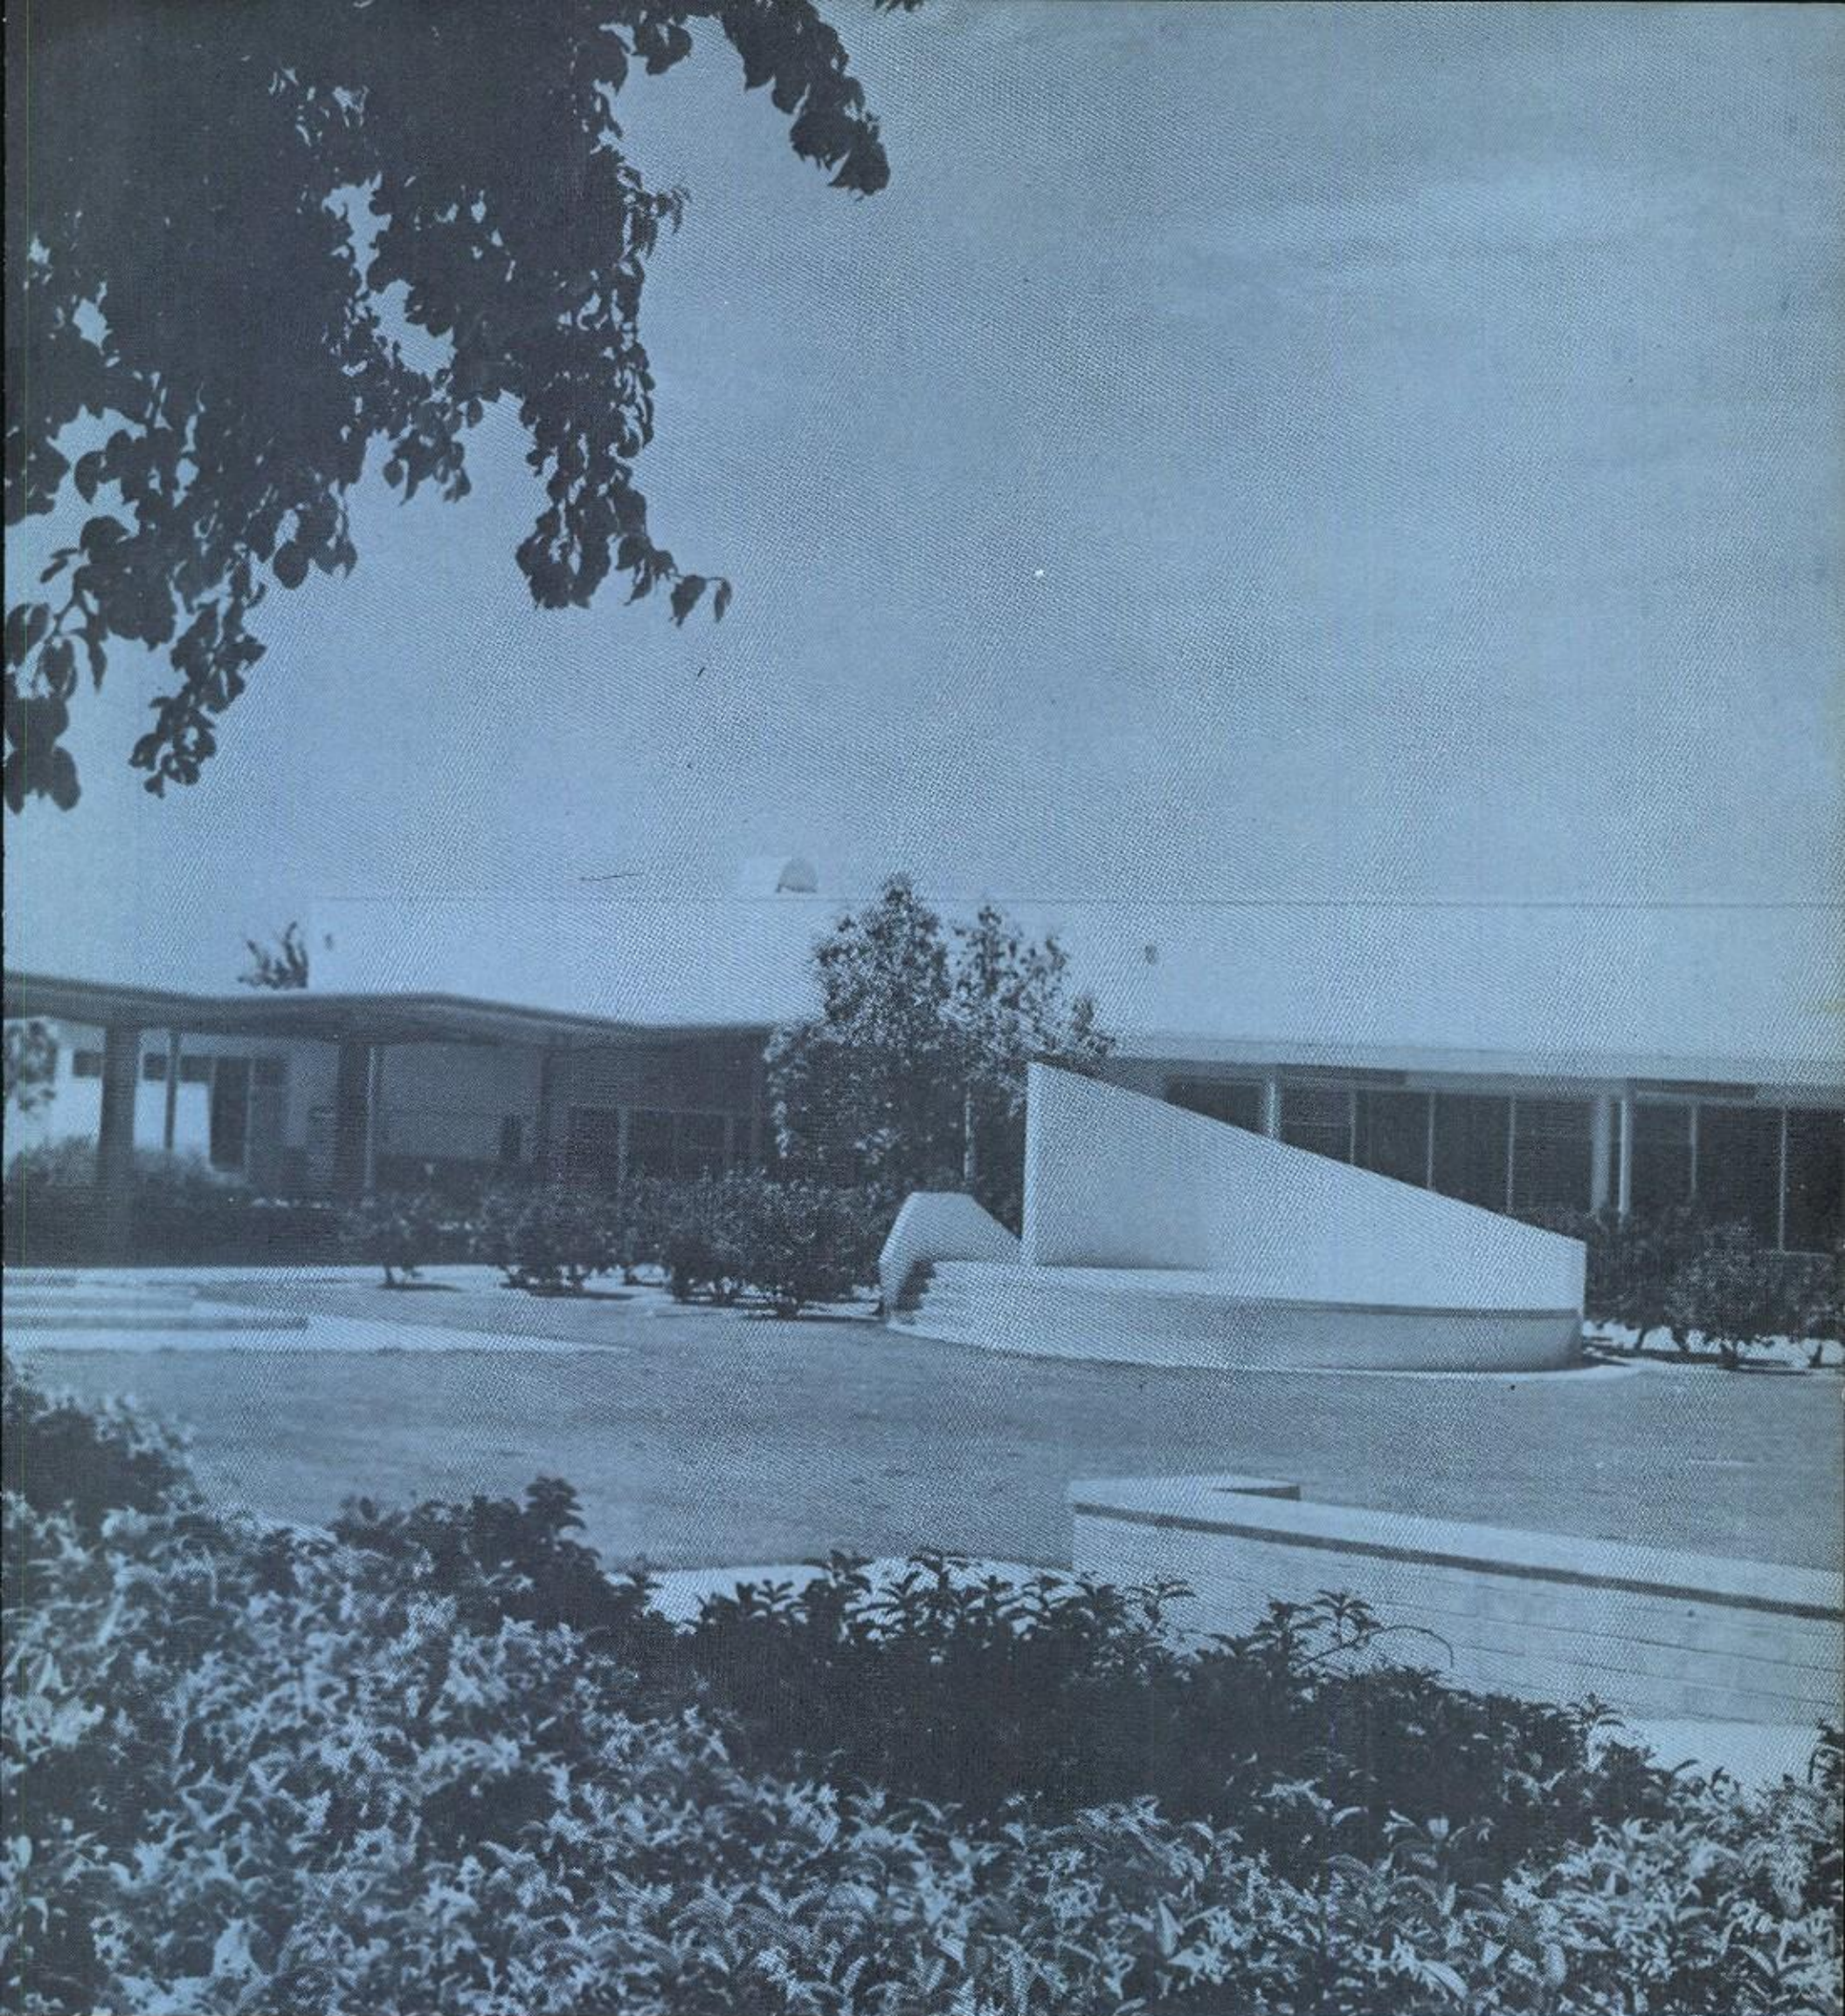

Linked historically to Father Serra's El Camino Real, Mission San Buenaventura was dedicated March 31, 1782. Centered as a religious tribunal, supply depot, travelers' refuge, and educational institution for local Indians, this embryo overlooking the Pacific provided base of community expansion to our present Ventura.

Sally -
 It's been an interesting experience with the Old Lady
 but she enjoyed knowing you - Lots of luck -

Abundant lemon, orange, and avocado groves are common sights in Ventura today, as yesterday. Known as the citrus capital of the world, much of Ventura's economy is based on agricultural production.

It's really been a lot of fun! Well you made it! I sure hope to see you in the summer
 Good Luck in the future with your personality it wouldn't be hard!

 Be Good!

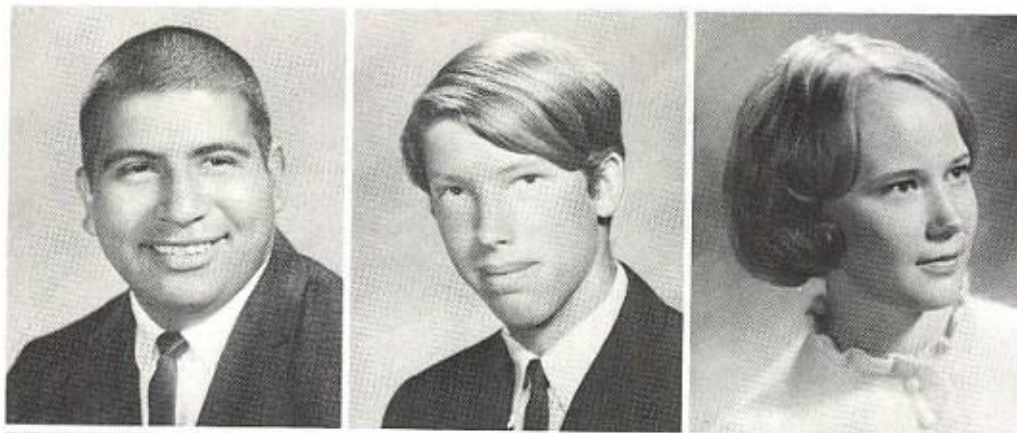

Long recognized as a major need for city growth, franchise for the Ventura pier was granted in 1871. In its original capacity, the pier was used as a dock for transporting cargo and an intermediate stop-over between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara. The present wharf was built in 1926 after the original 1,200 foot structure was condemned. Today the pier serves as a dock for small boats and recreational fishing area.

Capping an eventful three years, seniors looked forward to the magic of graduation. Grad spirit came to light as they won the canned Food Drive, the PTA Drive, and frolicked on the Senior Lawn. Guiding last senior memories were: seated, Ben Hill, president; Collette Martin, vice president; standing, Janet Hamilton, secretary; and Doris Thompson, treasurer.

Our Teams Over the Brink of Victory

Pete Parsons and Ben Hill look hopefully to a Buena basket. Parsons made the basket as these seniors help fill out one of the tallest teams in the school's history.

Ben Hill taps the ball to a waiting teammate. Mid-winter sports activity clarions forth the downhill turn toward high school graduation, and new vistas to conquer.

Members of 1966 Girls' and Boys' State were Janice Buckner and Tim Downey.

California Girls' and Boys' State are sponsored by the American Legion and its auxiliary. Each year a junior boy and girl are chosen to go to the State conventions in Sacramento at the close of the school year. Members are chosen by a committee of administrators and teachers on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, character, leadership, sportsmanship, and physical fitness. The girls and boys are organized into groups of about twenty-five, called "cities", into "counties," and finally into one large group, the "state." They learn by doing—by governing themselves they learn the structure and functions of a democratic government. Being a member is a great honor, and a great opportunity to learn and make lifelong friendships.

Victorious Seniors Earn Special Awards; Cap Triumphant High School Life with Honors

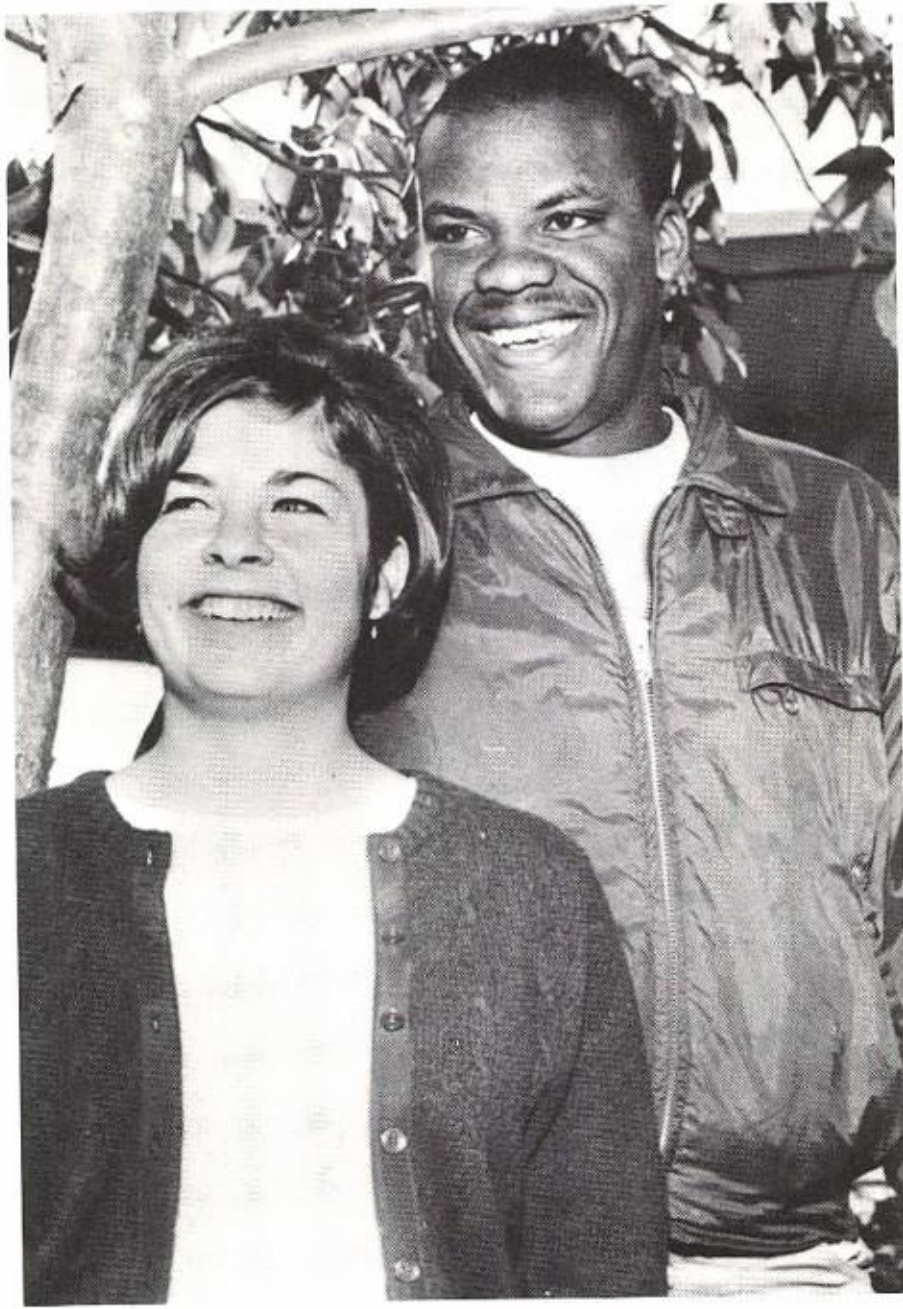

Senior girls vote for the outstanding citizen among them. This year Mariette Schmidt earned the DAR Citizenship Award. Her good citizenship is an achievement to be proud of, and will make her a fine American adult.

All senior girls have an opportunity to take a test that determines Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow." This year, the highest score was made by Janice Buckner. Her score is sent to Sacramento, and she is eligible to become California's, then the nation's outstanding homemaker.

Senior Award Winners Capture Diverse Honors

Judy Coryell and Buster Davis were honored as Girl and Boy of the First Quarter. Elected by Girls' League and Boys' Federation, respectively, this is the highest honor bestowed on a senior. Among Judy's credits are Mascot and Contessa's President; Buster has been active in many sports.

Girl and Boy of the Second Quarter awards went to Allyson Tuckfield and Ron Jacobs. Allyson has been active in many clubs and is ASB Director of Publications, and Page 1 Editor of the Buena Vista. Ron has served as Soph Class President, ASB Treasurer, and ASB President.

Suzy Caporael is a winner in the Regional Scholastic Arts contest. She was honored with a Gold Key and Certificate of Merit for a painting. Suzy was one of the few students in Southern California to be awarded this honor. On February 25, Suzy, her parents, and Mr. Akins, her art teacher, were invited guests at the Statler Hotel to receive her award.

Judges are artists and educators who have an understanding of art education at the secondary level.

The contest was primarily to provide students with the opportunity to present work for viewing and to compare their abilities with their contemporaries in the art field.

Bob Fredericks prepares a dive attack on his spaghetti, with milk, roll, and dessert awaiting oblivion, (above). Disbelief marks Buster Davis' face as he strains to see if Bob Alamillo really can take a bite that big, (upper right). Seniors congregate in a desultory fashion on the lawn to relax after a grueling battle with the lunch lines and scramble system, (lower right).

Senior men, second lunch, bravely hold sway against an assault of underclassmen for the prize spot, the senior table. Not shown here is the ensuing food fight which took place just seconds after this placid scene was shot. You were almost there.

Caught in a candid shot, senior girls reflect the casual atmosphere of lunch-time. Senior girls hold forth with good food, good conversation, and good times, an integral part of the day's schedule.

Special Spots Claim Seniors During Noon Respite

Universal favorite of students everywhere is lunch time, and students at Buena prove no exception. Two lunch periods serve the students with cafeteria and snack bar facilities.

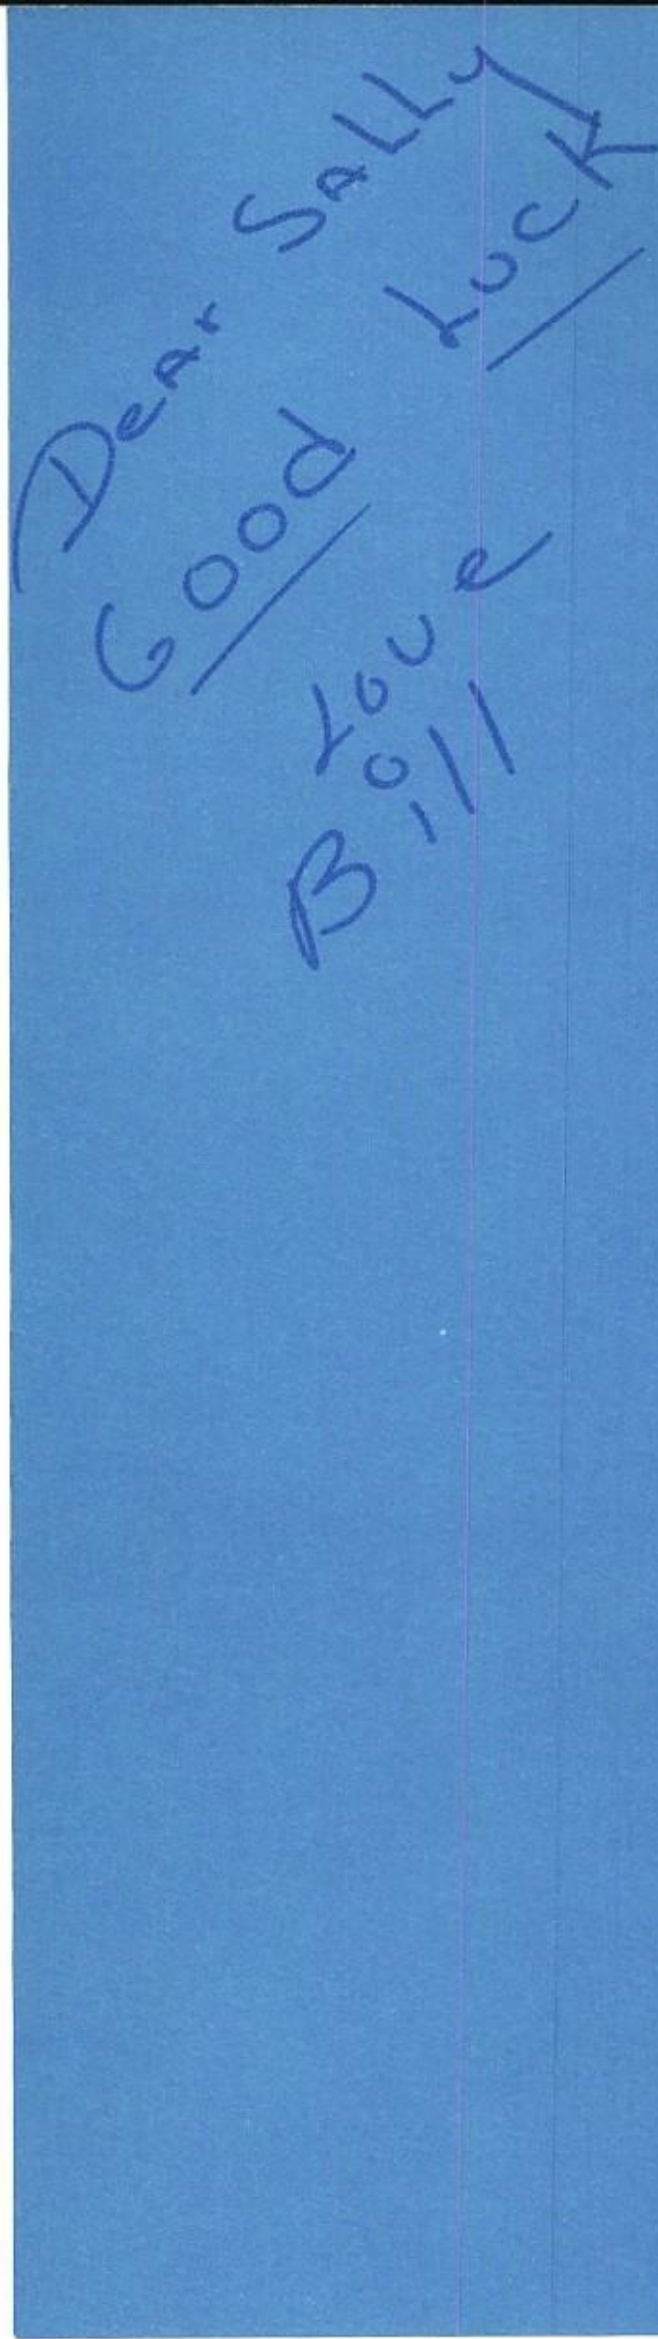

After-lunch activities are varied according to current student activities. During elections, campaign skits are often performed on the Orange Peel in the quad. A perennial favorite of seniors, and source of jealousy for underclassmen, is the Senior Lawn. Seen at left is a typical group of seniors enjoying the esoteric privacy of their cherished lawn.

De facto segregation seems to be the situation, or maybe the boys are just afraid of the girls. The situation in first lunch is such, as Ben Hill heads up a table of senior men (top). Senior girls take advantage of the forty minute lunch period to discuss just about everything (boys?) amid salads, cookies, and all sorts of cafeteria fare.

Kathy Henry initiates a demolition attack on a hot dog as Beverley Schneider stands by in amazement at the finesse with which she consumes the job.

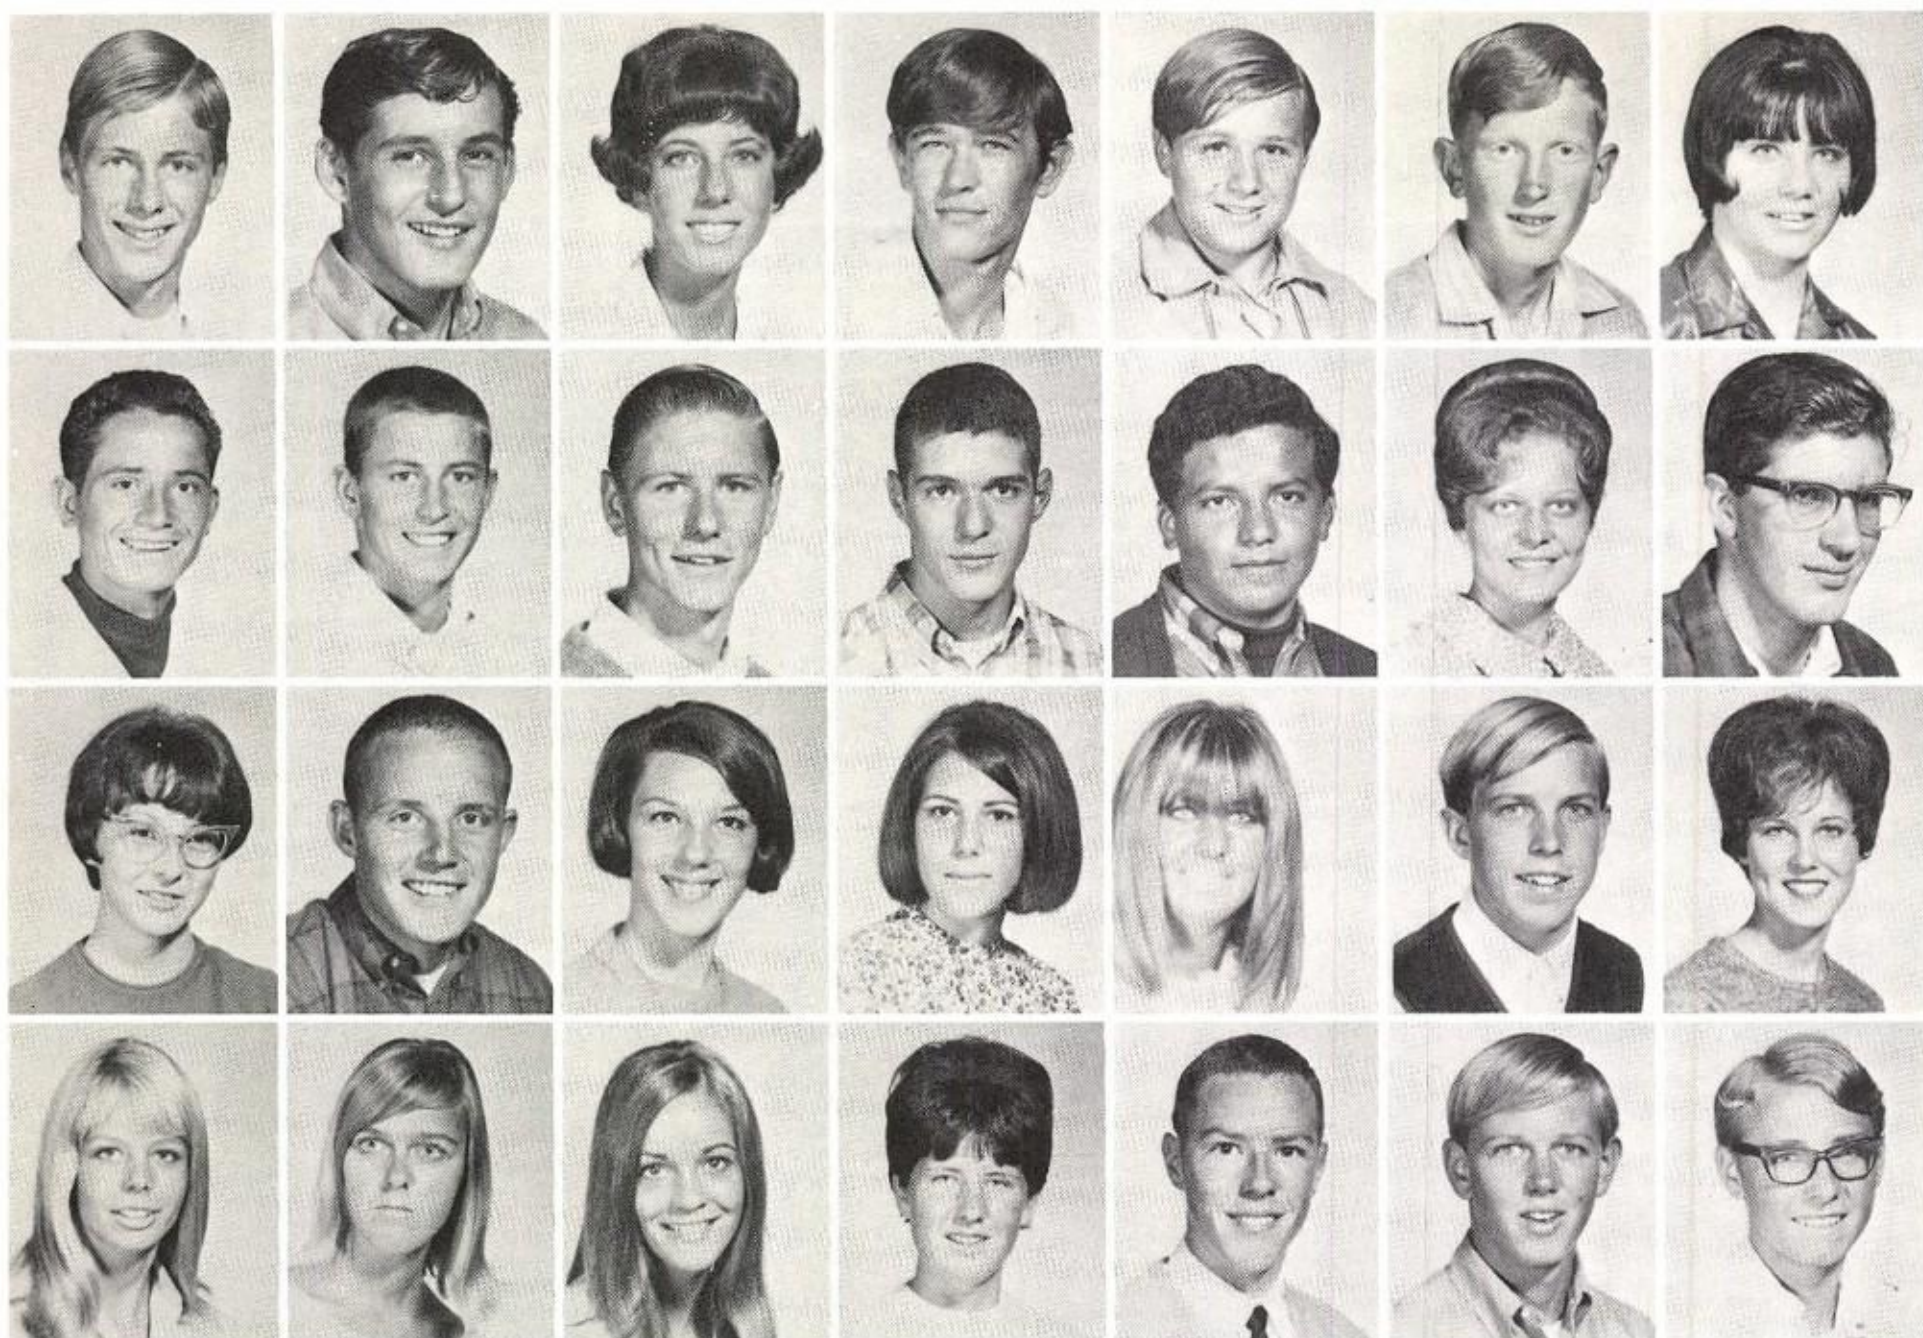

Could have been, in review, that these people were Polynesian descent, or perhaps branches of famous Incas and Aztecs. Whether by land or sea, they immigrated seeding these initial shores that established a proud heritage. Chumash Indians, already inhabitants of this land, welcomed sixteenth century explorers. Continuing their hospitality through the years until absorbed by the present day boiling pot of all nations.

Juniors fulfilled tradition by presenting the seniors with the Junior-Senior Prom at year's end. Another red letter event was the class ring sale which marked junior maturation. Directing class affairs were Susy Hctor, vice-president; Bill McGillin, president; Sharon MacDuffee, secretary; and Jan Buttars, treasurer.

In Memoriam . . .

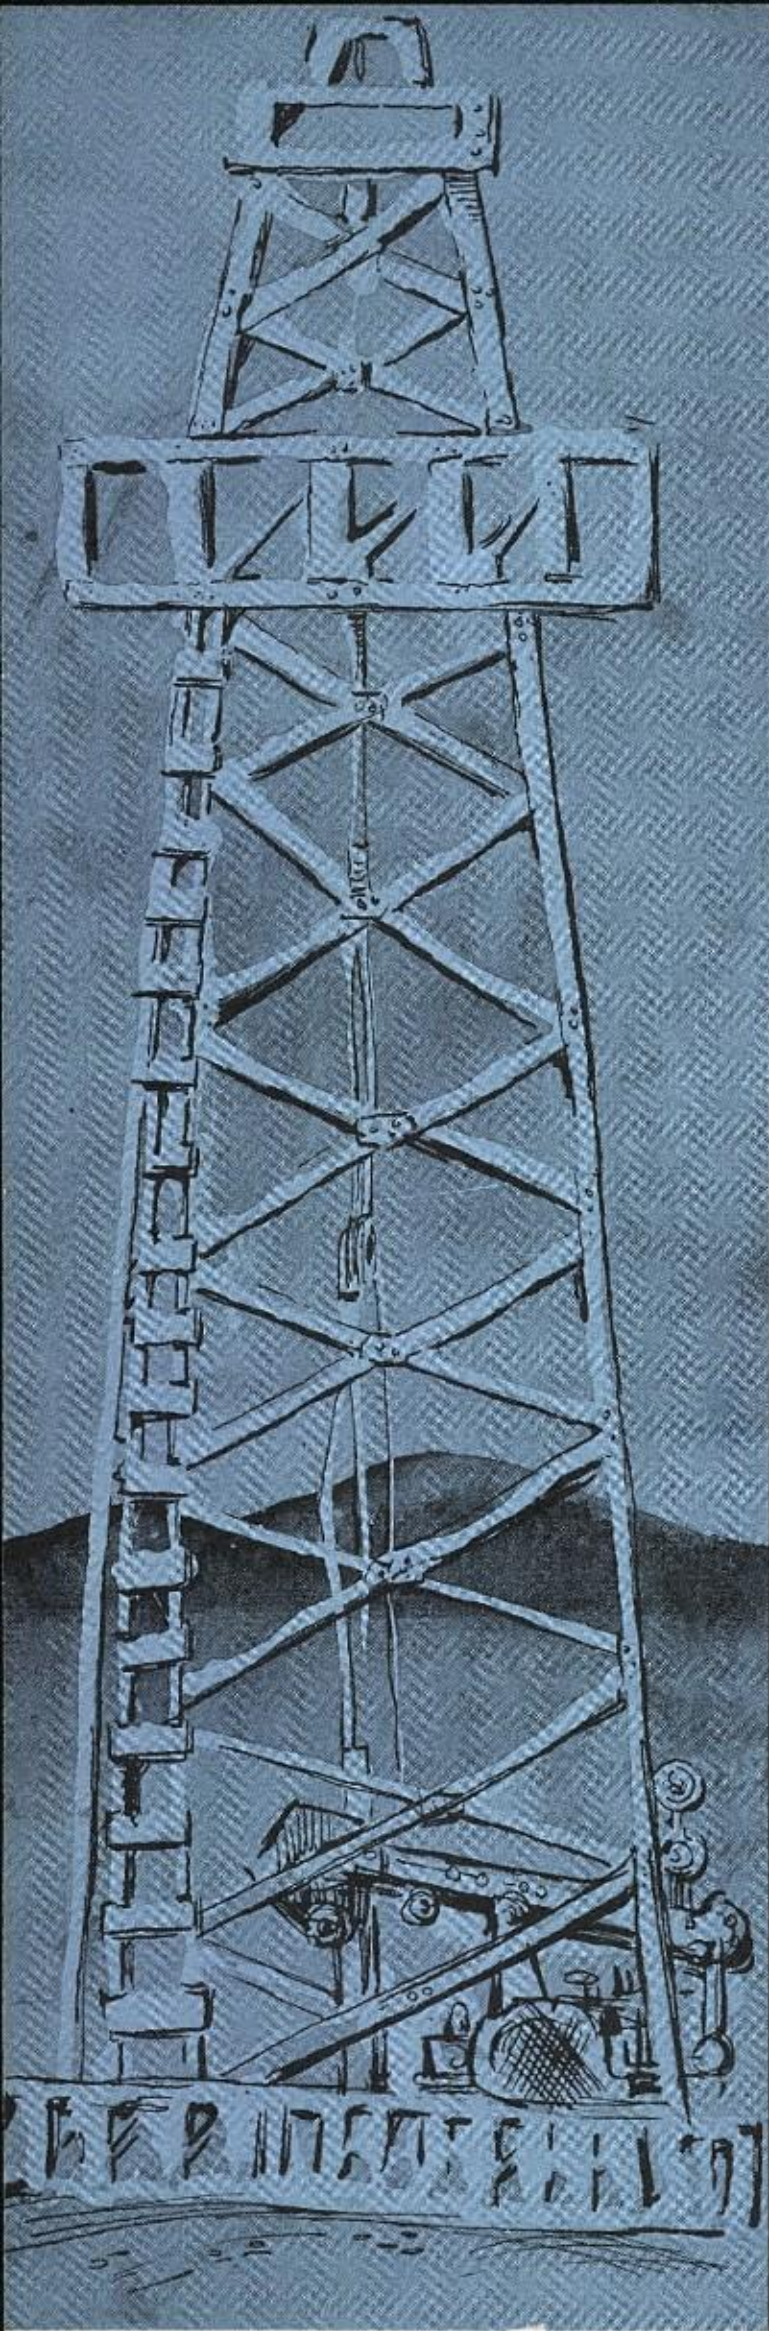

Shelley Scott

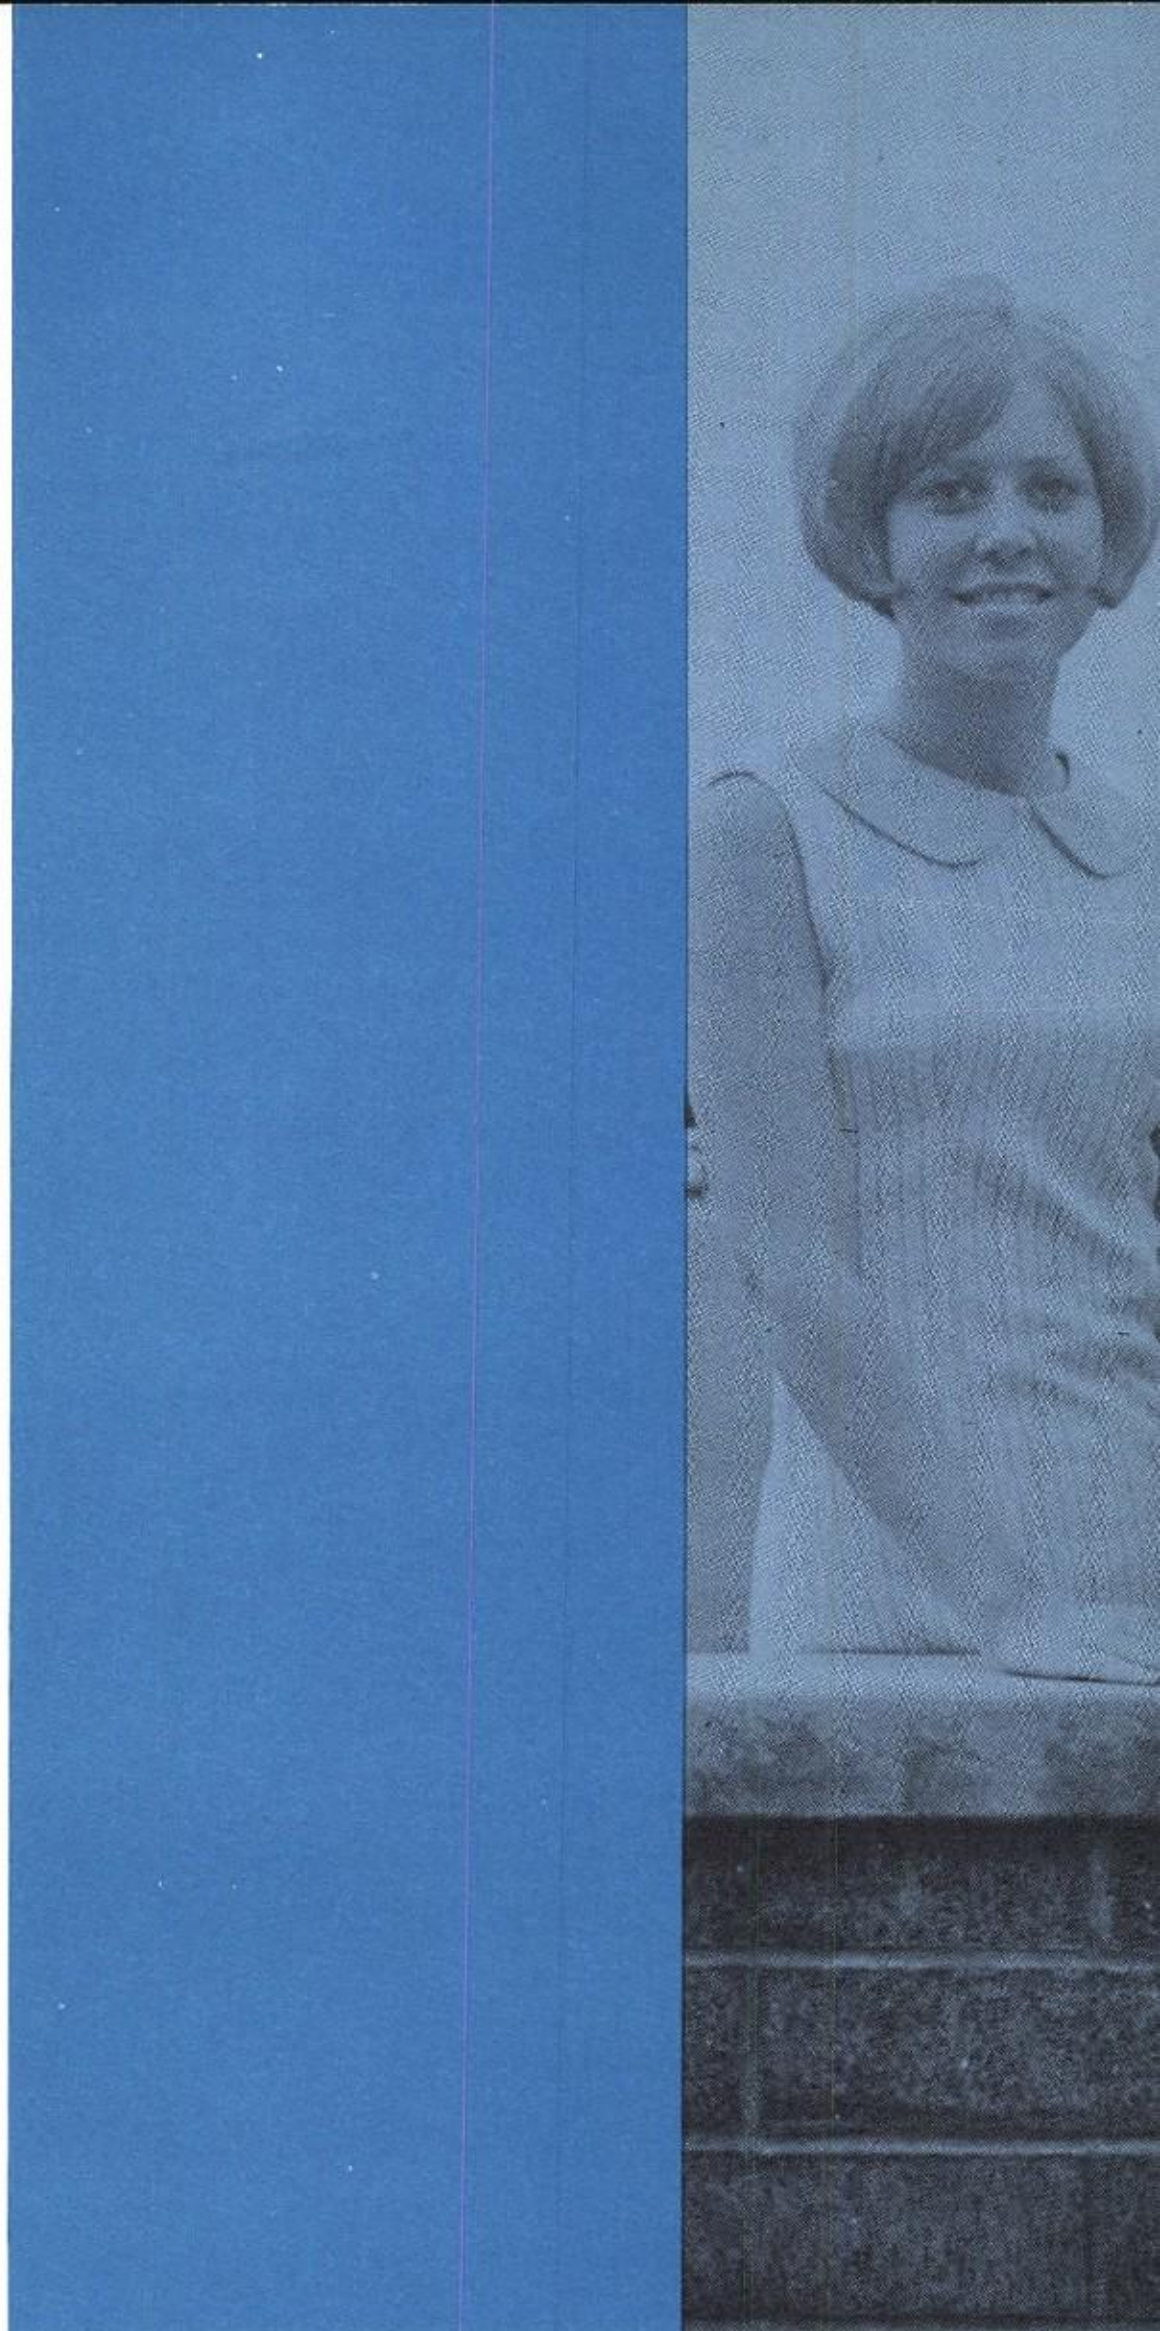

"Our creator would never have made such lovely days, and have given us the deep hearts to enjoy them, above and beyond all thought, unless we were meant to be immortal."

—Nathaniel Hawthorne

Rising into the sky, Ventura's oil derricks signify one of her most important industries—oil. Northeast of the town's heart lie many fertile acres stretching from sea to inland mountains, which has aided Ventura's tremendous growth historically.

Starting an inaugural year with a new, almost nonexistent treasury, the sophomores' main projects were concerned with raising funds for class activities. Selling Pixie-stixs and running the basketball coke concession stand were two such projects.

Leading class through its first year were Lynn Middagh, secretary; Susan Ray, treasurer; Ken Strople, president; and Kay Wilson, vice-president.

Spanish Galleons sailed the oceans in the 16th Century. 1542 found a small fleet, under the command of Juan Rodriquez Cabrillo, loom on the horizon and discover a nearby natural harbor. Anchoring and setting up camp, the crew explored, noted, and envisioned possibilities for this wild fertile land. These lost records, in a form resembling a captain's log, constitute the earliest history of Ventura.

The Buena Vista, which is distributed free of charge to members of the ASB, is prepared and edited by members of the journalism class. Approximately seventeen issues a year are published, featuring articles dealing with campus life, curriculum, activities, and sports. It gives students practice copy-reading, proofreading, dummieing, making up, and seeing the results in print before a reader audience. Staffers learn the important techniques of interviewing for stories and how to meet others. Membership on the staff stresses the importance of writing in maintaining an informed public in a democracy, and helps develop critical and discriminating readers. This year, the Buena Vista won the Quill and Scroll International Honor Award. Mr. Robert L. Thompson is the advisor.

Lynn Matthews is business manager. She contacts businesses and points out the reasonable display ad rates for a large teen readership. Handling billing and all financial aspects of the newspaper, Lynn is kept busy with her file and contracts.

Through Japanese, Venezuelan Representatives

Dear Friends,

Looking back over this wonderful year, I have spent with you at Buena, I cannot stop thinking how fast the time flies! When I first got here on August 5, 1966, I was amazed to find myself in a town so pretty as Ventura. Almost from the beginning I felt that I belonged, because your city is so much like my own in Japan, with the sea on one side and the rising hills on the other.

My family at home is composed of my father and mother, a younger sister, Hiroko, and a dog, Piko. We live in Nishinomiya, which is famous for its Sake, a Japanese wine. My father works in Osaka, which is nearby, and my sister goes to a private high school. But here I had a great new family, the Hugh Millers. Daddy is a typical, good American husband; Jan an active, sweet mama; and Donna and Ron are my step sister and brother. I share a room with Donna, and it has been the neatest experience.

Over in Japan, I went to a private high school for girls—Kobe College Senior High School—so coming to Buena was a great change for me. Here I have thoroughly enjoyed taking Humanities and Speech, which are both new to me.

I have had many new experiences since I came here; things I had never seen or done before are now a part of my life forever. I have been surfing, visited a movie studio, tasted oranges right off the tree, eaten tacos and popcorn balls, and gone to dances. The memory of Christmas will never leave me.

The greatest discovery I have found is that there is little difference among human beings, no matter what country they are from.

I will be going home to Japan, but we have walked together, and talked together, and I will never forget you.

Sincerely,

Yoko Kataoka

Dear Friends,

This has been a wonderful year I wouldn't have wanted to miss for my life, including the hours of serious studying and the marvelous hours of just goofing off with so many new friends made in this corner of the world. This existence was unknown to me until I came here, but which I will always keep a warm place for in my heart, and has made of Ventura a brilliant point on my world map.

I also hope that my stay here will leave Venezuela a place on your maps. Often I've been asked if the region where I live in Southern Venezuela is a wild place, and I had never considered it as such. The town is very similar to Ventura, but I do admit that, come to think of it, we've been hunting jaguars (the cat, not the car) at three hours from my home by jeep. So maybe it is.

For the past two years I've been going to school in Caracas, LaSalle School, and the system is not too different from here in the states. Our school year goes from Oct. 1 to the end of July, and we went to school six days a week until 11th grade.

Our sports are rather disorganized, and contrary to what I find people here believe, baseball has been more popular in Venezuela than soccer, although now they are balanced I think. Once in our school, we started a football team (we call it rugby) which promptly ended with a broken jaw from the captain.

My stay in the states has been very enriching, and I want to thank all those who gave me and others this happy time.

Sincerely,

Gerald Hoogesteyn

William Winter, biographer of Edwin Booth, played by David Culp, explains the deep feelings of young Edwin, Richard Brown, pictured in background.

Tender moments are captured forever as Jerry Jennings and Belinda Bernstein portray Edwin Booth and Mary Devlin sharing moments of affection.

Prospective Interest Channels Merit Enthusiasm

Playing music for student enjoyment is just one phase of Alan Berbert and Sandy Owen's job as 'disc jockeys' during second lunch.

Thanks to this year's Buena High Public Address Announcers, school news, organizational activities, humorous jokes, and records are broadcast to students at lunch. BHPA announcers work in a situation similar to that of a radio disc jockey. Announcers were chosen after application for the job and screening in a simulated situation.

Getting ready to make an announcement are BHPA announcers Nancy Detwiller and Jim Skoog for first lunch entertainment.

Showing enthusiastic smiles and promoting school spirit are majorettes Sandy Owen and Sondra Brown. After months of practicing routines the majorettes performed at all home games during half-time with the band. Sondra and Sandy worked in conjunction with the banner girls to form the band units.

Proudly displaying their flags are banner girls Sara Kendrick, Chris Cadden, Bonnie Thurston, Vickie Peluso, and Mary Gutierrez. They enhanced band formations with flag and marching performances.

After screening before Mr. Gary Diehl, the band units were chosen on a basis of coordination, skill, and appearance. Band units performed with the band at all football home games and appeared with the band in parades. During football season, members practiced daily on their routines, perfecting them and making new ones.

Korean Tai Hong Oh Sponsored Through Club Funds

Tai Hong Oh is a seven year old Korean boy Buena students have supported for two and a half years. He lives in Kwan Am Ri, a village located about 20 miles south of Seoul, Korea.

Today, as a result of a $15.00 check sent monthly, Tai is able to attend grammar school. Family living and village life has become a little easier. Past checks have thus far purchased a cow, some food, clothing, and farm supplies, as well as some livestock.

Tai's father, Sang Ki, 29, is a farmer, and with the modern equipment he now has, food production for the family has increased somewhat. Tai's mother, Math Suoot, earns additional income by working in a general store in the village. Four year old Tai Jin, completes the family.

The village in which Tai and his family lives consists of 16 families. Parents of most of these families escaped from North Korea during the Korean War. This small settlement of Kwan Am Ri lacks the necessary medical facilities needed in most parts of the world.

Seeing that the monthly check is mailed is a responsibility of the Service Committee. Other projects related to Tai are sending him gifts, toys, and candy at Christmas time, as well as, pictures of various students. Several letters during the year are forwarded. Early in October, preparation begins to send Tai's Christmas package. It must be mailed early to insure its arrival on time.

Since "Save The Children Federation" first introduced Buena students to Tai, campus clubs have helped greatly in brightening the life of this one small Korean child and his family.

Standing outside his home is Tai Hong Oh with his mother, Math Suoot and younger brother Tai Jin.

A seven-year old Korean boy, Tai Hong Oh, now is able to attend school and his family enjoys an easier life due to the efforts of Buena students.

Melodies Inspire Musicians to Practice Hard

Orchestra members are interested and capable musicians who want to learn about and perform all types of good music. Dedicated members meet before school to rehearse the music that they will play at school assemblies, PTA meetings, and music festivals. The music varies from purely classical works to modern show tunes, and members learn a great deal about music in the process of playing it. More accomplished musicians are given opportunities to play solos and duets in front of an audience, and they gain poise and experience by doing so. The orchestra's first performance of the year was Back-to-School Night. Later it performed at the Christmas Program, some PTA Meetings, and the Spring Concert. Choir and orchestra work in close cooperation to present the Christmas Assembly and evening Christmas Program. The choir sings Christmas music set to a story, the orchestra plays traditional carols, and the two groups join in a classical Christmas song. A shortened version of the program is presented to the students in assembly, then the complete program is presented in the evening. The highlight of the year is the Spring Concert, when the Band and Orchestra combine to present an evening concert. At the end of the year awards are given to deserving orchestra members on the basis of ability and service. Orchestra awards are presented at the Musician's Banquet, a pot-luck dinner.

One of the highlights of the year is the Musician's Banquet.

In the late 1800's a little girl named Virginia wrote to the New York Times to ask if there was really a Santa Claus. Virginia's letter and response have since become a yuletide classic. This tale served as the theme for this year's Christmas Program. Under the direction of Mrs. Imogene Bercaw, the choir presented the program to the student body in a double assembly; then, with orchestra, put on the full program Wednesday night.

Little Rochelle Scoville knows there is a Santa Claus because she caught him at work.

"Is there a Santa Claus?" asks Virginia of Mr. David Bercaw. "Why of course there is" — and even the panda smiles at the good news.

"The Rainmaker" by N. Richard Nash became a smash comedy on Broadway and was recently made into a musical. The play offered the cast an exciting opportunity to portray real life characters in realistic situations. It had moments of tender drama and moments of high comedy.

John Robinson studies a wanted poster in his sheriff's office as Bill Kendrick, the deputy, points to Starbuck's offenses. David Culp smiles at the resemblance of the drawing.

Bill Kendrick is backed against the wall by Lizzie Curry attempting to trap a man by her own cunning.

File is threatened by Jimmy Curry with a punch if he doesn't take back a remark about Lizzie. Noah holds him for a moment as H.C. watches the blood boil. (Top) Starbuck convinces Lizzie that she isn't plain but pretty. With this realization Cheryl Kern's face lights up as Lizzie Curry finally has a beau, even though for a short time only (Bottom).

Good-Year Hopes Typified Universal Consensus;

September '66

After three months of well-used vacation, Buena opened its doors for the sixth year to new and old students. Bulldogs returned ready to start off a new, even more successful year of academic advancement, athletic "upsets" and numerous campus activities.

Gerald Hoogesteyn and Yoko Katoaka, Buena's two foreign exchange students, were acquainted with the school. Gerald arrived from Venezuela and lives with the Robert MacEwan family. Yoko came from Japan, and has taken residency with her American foster family, the Millers.

Mr. Berbert and Mr. Jones are welcomed back to Buena's staff after a year's sabbatical leave.

Five ASB officers spent a delightful weekend in Mount Pinos while attending the Ventura County Inter-School Council leadership camp. During their visit, the officers attended several meetings, and recreational activities were also provided.

The football season opened with a game against San Marcos. Even though it ended in a loss for the Bulldogs—they picked up and had an overall good season; meanwhile San Marcos ran up an undefeated season until CIF playoffs.

"September Song" was the title given to Buena's traditional welcome dance. This event took place after the Buena-Rio Mesa game, and featured the "Organizers", a live band.

Diane Clower and Jo Ann Kittle prove to all Ventura County Buena's spirit excels all others. These two senior cheerleaders ride down Main Street Fair Day, October 1966, representing the fine school they are proud of.

October '66

October 6th brought the installment of the new sophomore officers at the first assembly of the school year.

October 5th was the day for the FAIR, and also a holiday. The Fair Parade brought with it floats and clowns. Yoko and Gerald, exchange students, adorned Buena's float entry clad in their native costumes.

October 18 brought "College Night" for seniors in which they received a talk and information on college entrance.

October 18-19 enjoined the first PSAT tests and the annual Backwards Dance, "Showboat", sponsored by the Girls' League and the Social Board.

To wind up the month was Dad's night with the football game against Ventura, Friday the 28th.

Scholarship night was staged for the seniors on the night of October 27.

Seniors were given information on how to apply for scholarships and were given some good suggestions as to ones to apply for. This information proved fruitful for many of the seniors later in the year.

Gerald Hoogesteyn and Yoko Katoaka were Buena's newly-arrived foreign exchange students from Venezuela and Japan. The American Field Service, which brought them to this strange country, affords the opportunity for broadening understandings between countries.

A Fine Start Led to More Booming Successes

November '66

A play, a bestowed honor and a queen marked the month of November, which sparked the start of an exciting season.

Mariette Schmidt was honored as this year's recipient of the annual DAR awards. Each year these awards are given by the Daughters of the American Revolution to an outstanding senior girl. Winners must display such traits as patriotism, dependability, service and citizenship.

Comedy, heavy drama and tragedy portrayed the life story of Edwin Booth, Buena's offering in dramatic fields. Jerry Jennings played Edwin.

Other members of the cast included: Richard Brown, Jerry Martin, Richard Parrett, John Hubenthal, David Culp, Arnee de Leau and Belinda Bernstein.

A dream came into reality for Jo Ann Kittle, crowned Homecoming Queen of 1966. Her court included Cindy Swift, junior princess, and Karen Masterson, sophomore princess. All girls were honored at the Varsity Salute Dance held afterwards.

Jerry Jennings, as Edwin Booth, displays his wrath at Richard Brown. The play revealed inside emotions and life of an assassin's brother. It was another example of creative work groups which talent can perform.

December '66

December, one of the year's most looked-to-months, held many exciting and unusual prospects for Buena's students.

A letter written by a young girl who really believed in the spirit of Christmas, Santa Claus, was the theme of the annual Christmas program. Orchestral arrangements set the mood, backed up by the choir interpretation of the happenings long ago. Also featured were many small children, hearing the reply to "Is there really a Santa Claus?"

The Sports Banquet rated high among activities during December. Honoring water polo, football, and cross-country, letters were presented to qualifying members of either Varsity or Junior varsity teams.

Players receiving special recognition included Lane Jackson, Grant Webster, Pat Fitzsimmons, Jim Ertman, and Jeff Attebery.

Christmas programs more-than-often open the season of merriment. Donna Allender portrays Virgin Mary, gazing at her son. This scene perhaps adds thoughts that Noel's connotation, more than Santa, is peace and good will.

January '67

January of 1967 will probably always be remembered as the month of UNEXPECTATIONS.

January 9th brought "College Night" for Juniors, a new program that was designed to give the upcoming senior class a head start in their plans for college.

Then came the unexpected with the novice "Computer Dance" that was sponsored by the Math Club. Some 300 students swinging in the new year with the sound of the "Decades".

Friday the 20th proved a grueling night for the Varsity Basketball team as they met Ventura in their All Channel League play-off.

January 27 thru 31 brought examination week in which all the students showed real enthusiasm as they wrote down every 'incorrect' answer on finals. This proved a hard week for all concerned but was lifted by the game with Santa Barbara and Dad's Night the 31st.

Second Semester: Did Everyone Detect Several

February '67

February held many events. To start off the month, Boy and Girl of the Second Quarter were announced. They were honored and presented plaques at a pep rally.

Swinging into view next was the Buena Spring Formal. Saturday, February 11, "Sweethearts' Ball" was held in the Gymnasium from 9 'til midnight. It created exciting times for all three classes, and proved an eventful night.

Valentine's Day invaded the Buena campus, leaving candy, cards, and steadies.

Girls' League sponsored the Father-Daughter Banquet, held February 14. Barbara Groves read a monologue written especially for the occasion called "My Heart Belongs to Daddy." Knights served the dinner which was followed by fathers attending a basketball game.

One of the more intellectual activities open during February was the Lion's Club Speech Contest. Bill Enoch represented Buena and won first place.

Key Club initiated nine new members, dragging them from their beds early one Sunday morning.

Marian Schlange was awarded first place position in the district competition of Elk's Club Leadership Contest.

March '67

Springtime ushered in the beginning of March and the fun times that lay ahead.

Basketball season was officially over. From now on baseball, track, golf, swimming and tennis would make the headlines. Prospects looked for another great season ahead! The winter athletic banquet was also held at this time.

Rains came with the production of "The Rainmaker", Buena's second dramatic offering of the year. The scene—drought, a family faced with terrible suffering, and a rather plain young girl. All led towards disaster, until the "Rainmaker" appeared. Members of the cast included: Don Enoch, Richard Brown, Richard Parrett, Cheryl Kern, Dave Culp, Bill Kendrick, and John Johnson.

April '67

Elections highlighted April, stirring the entire student body into a high frenzy of excitement. Candidates for ASB offices worked hard preparing posters, speeches, and skits for the coming election. Speeches and skits were given during both lunches in the Little Theatre.

Tears and smiles accompanied cheerleader and songleader screening, preparatory for Pep Squad elections held April 28-29. The Pep Squad committee had the difficult assignment of choosing which girls were the best from a field full of excellent candidates.

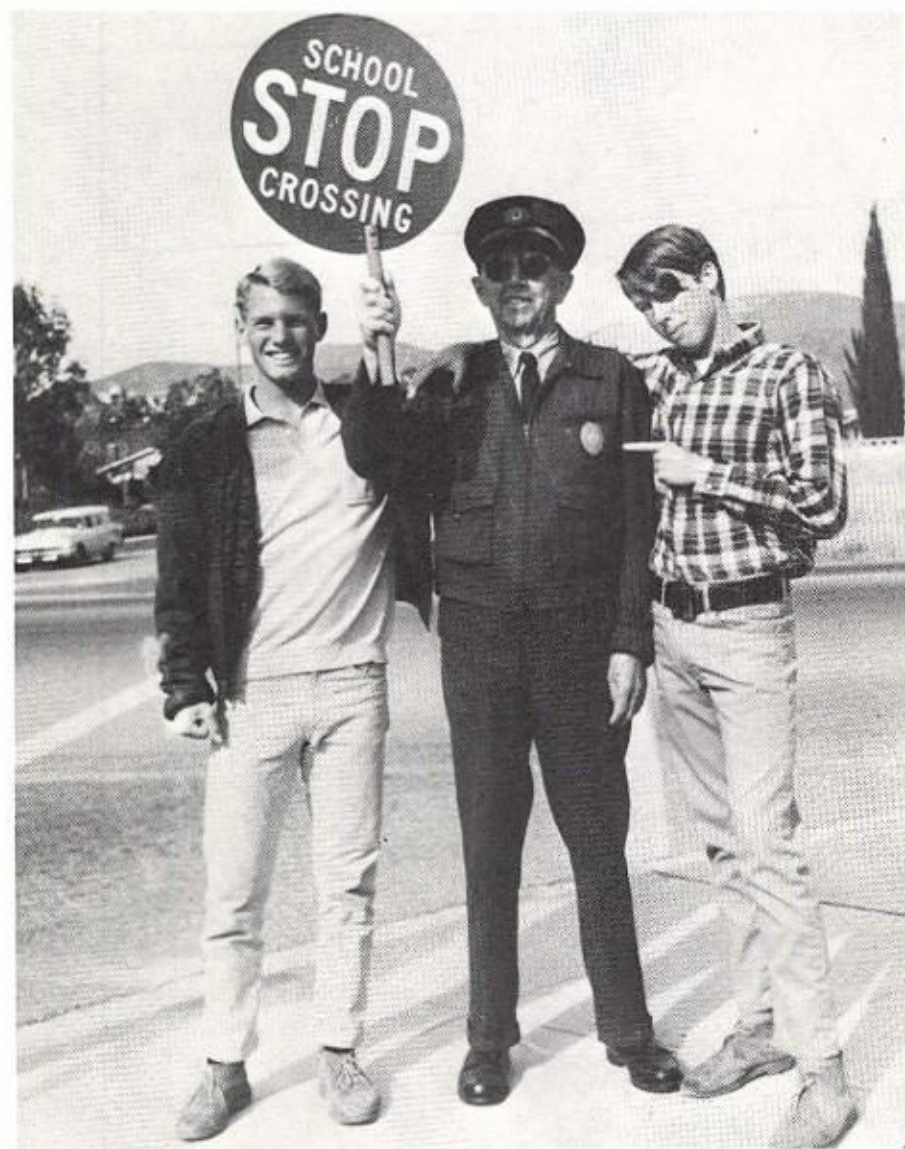

Twenty junior girls were accepted into Contessas during April. Contessas also performed their traditional candlelight installation ceremony and had a car wash.

Sports activities continued throughout April, with track, golf, tennis, baseball, and swimming.

Incentive for yelling was pushed along a bit with help from spirited cheerleaders such as Pam Gooss. Class competition always fed the fire called rivalry, preparing rooters for fast, determined evening games.

Symptoms of Senioritis, Junioritis, Sophitis?

Running into the stretch toward the finish of the school year can bring frustration. Restlessness (or is it spring?) entices many people to resort to friend-making.

May '67

May is always a wonderful time of the year especially since there are only about six weeks of school remaining until vacation. Seniors start singing "Pomp and Circumstance" at every mention of graduation and Juniors eye the Senior Lawn with anticipation.

May 11 brought the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet sponsored by the Girl's League.

May 10 was the class elections.

The pep squad candidates practiced cheers until they turned blue with green edges; then the elections were held at the Pep Squad Election Assembly. The annual Sports Banquet was held for Baseball, Track, Swimming and Golf. May 17 brought the Girl's League elections.

May came to an end with the CIF finals and Memorial Day holiday reminding the students of an even longer holiday that is coming up.

June '67

Although it didn't seem like it would ever make it, that long anticipated month finally rolled around. It has been a short month filled with final exams and lots of activities.

The last month of the school year, June, brings with it many fond memories. The last three weeks of school, seniors remember good times and bad times. The first of June goes slow. Seniors take optional exams. This is the time of year when students hurry home to see if they've received any failure notices. June 3rd presents the biggest night of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom. New tuxedos, formals, and hours at the beauty shop creating a new hairdo, made the scene. That special night has finally arrived. This year's prom brought many students of all three classes into its enchanted land.

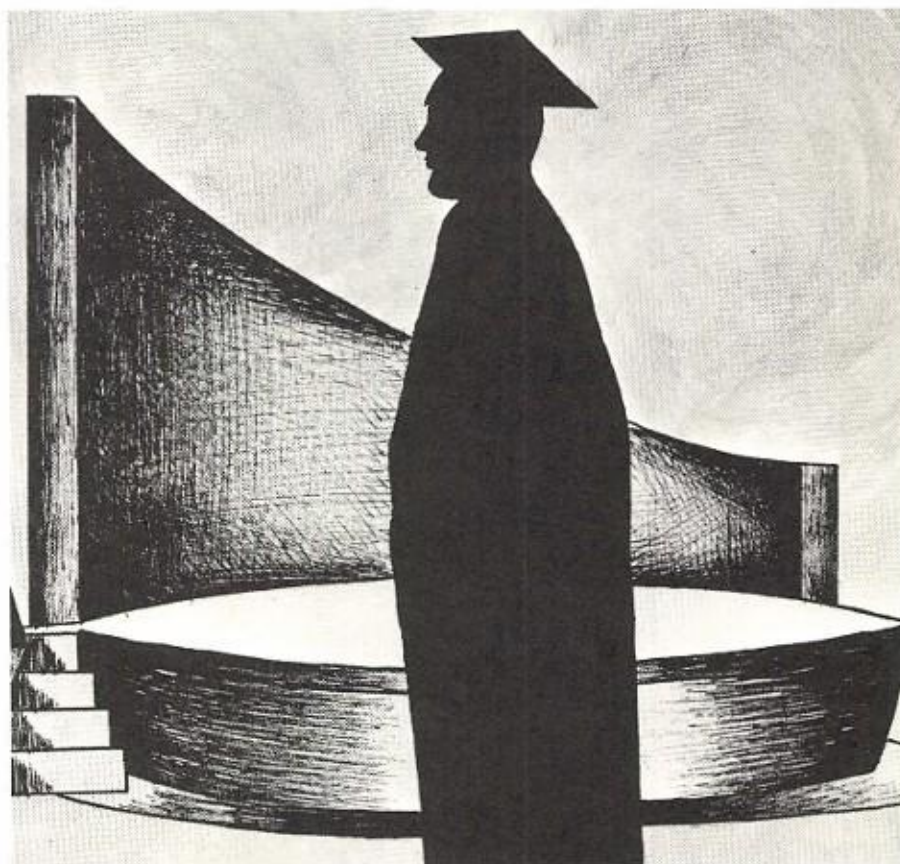

Final Senior examinations week, suddenly arrived. Loads of studying and memorizing quickly took place. Seniors up late hours cramming to make the score.

The Farewell Assembly was held June 9, highlighted by the dedication of the yearbook and the naming of the Boy and Girl of the Quarter. Later in the day the "1967 Conquistadors" were passed out.

Sportsnight, 7:30, was the last get-together for all classes. The signing of yearbooks was featured.

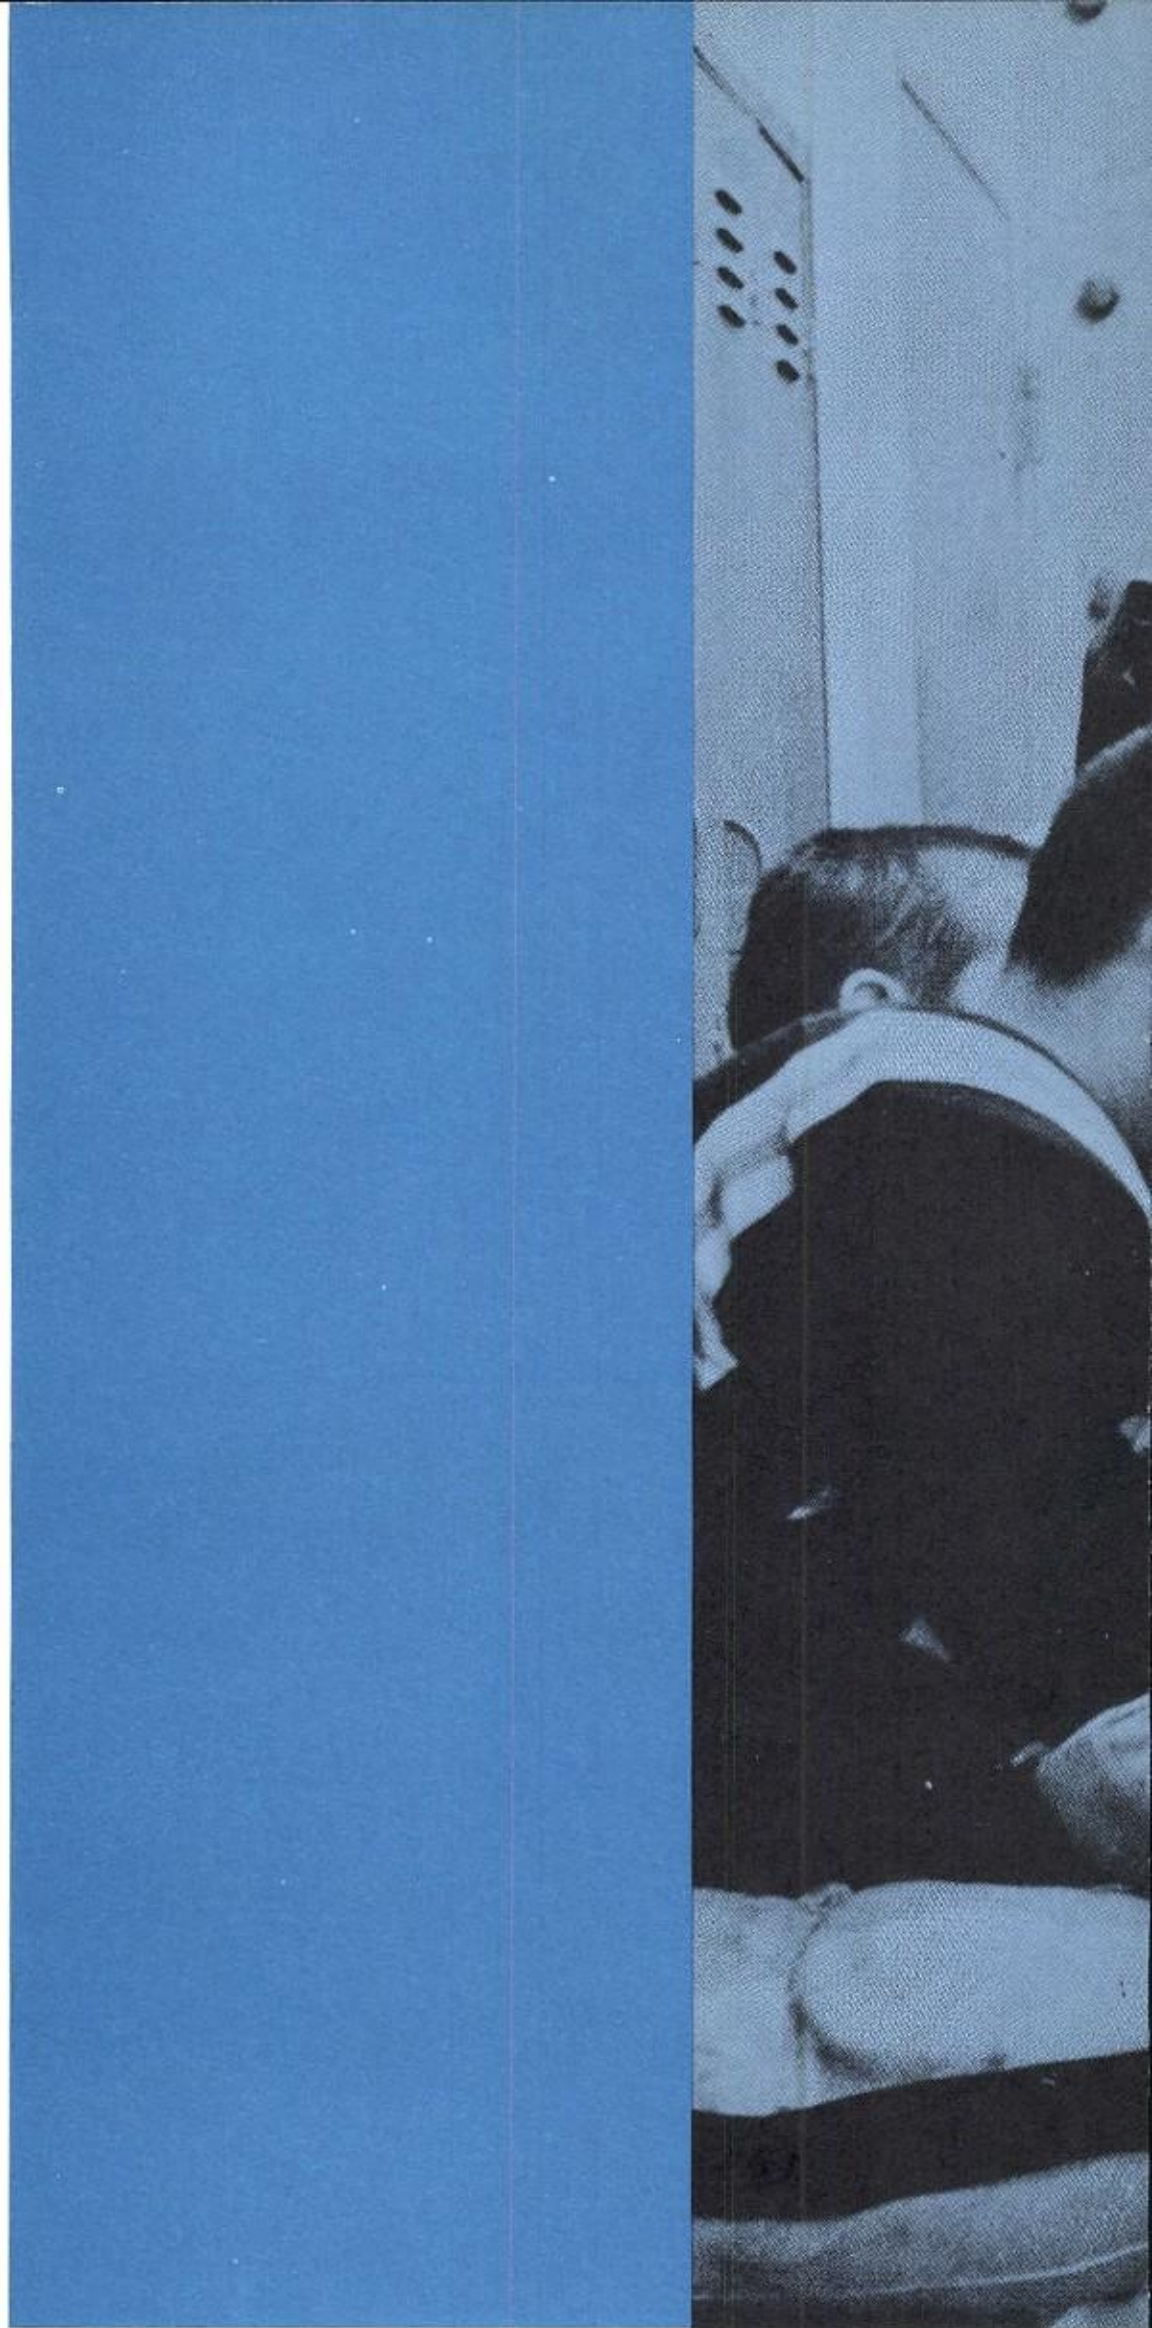

Vespers Services were held June 11, and graduation will be on June 15, followed by the senior all night party at Disneyland. Grades will be mailed home later this month.

With happy memories behind, Juniors proudly take on the task of next years seniors. The Senior Lawn, now inherited, finally becomes legal ground...

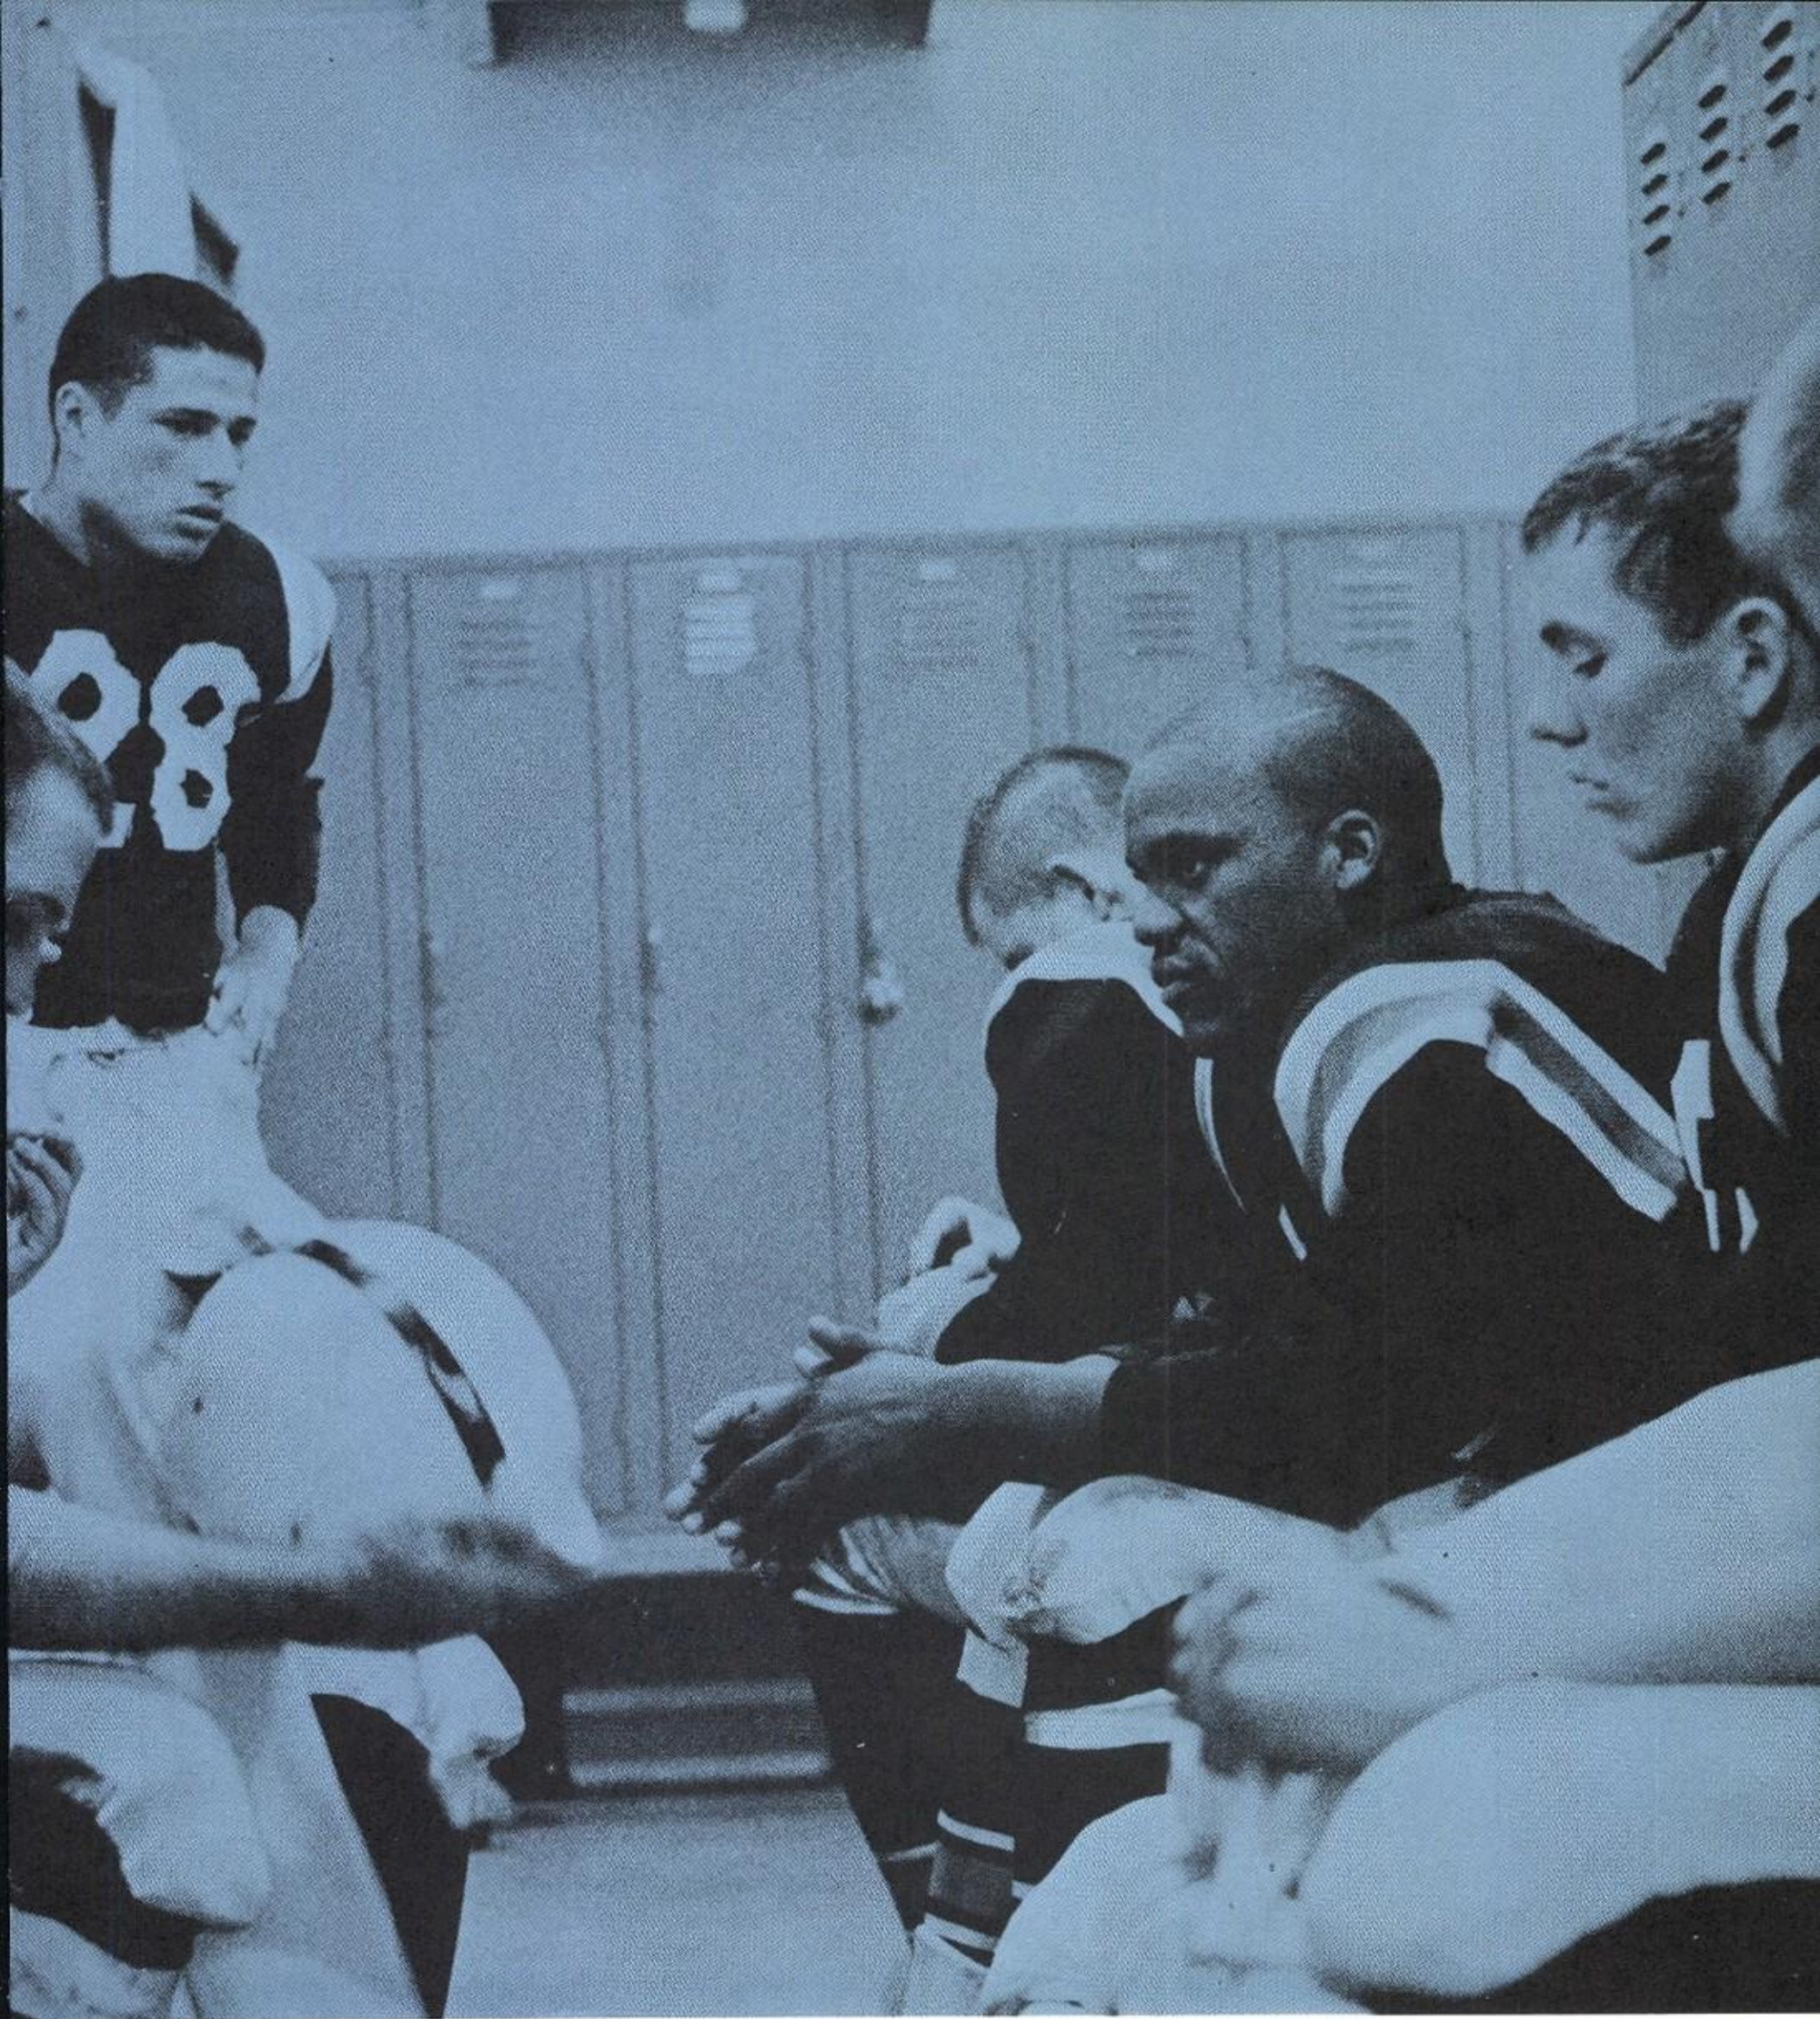

Over broad horizons of indescribable difficulties, brave men strongly blooded in the ancestry of Cortez overcame obstacles to inaugurate minute ingredients of California heritage. Conquistadors searched for golden cities, or fountains of youth, and their efforts were not in vain. Today a nation, and community proudly live on these foundations.

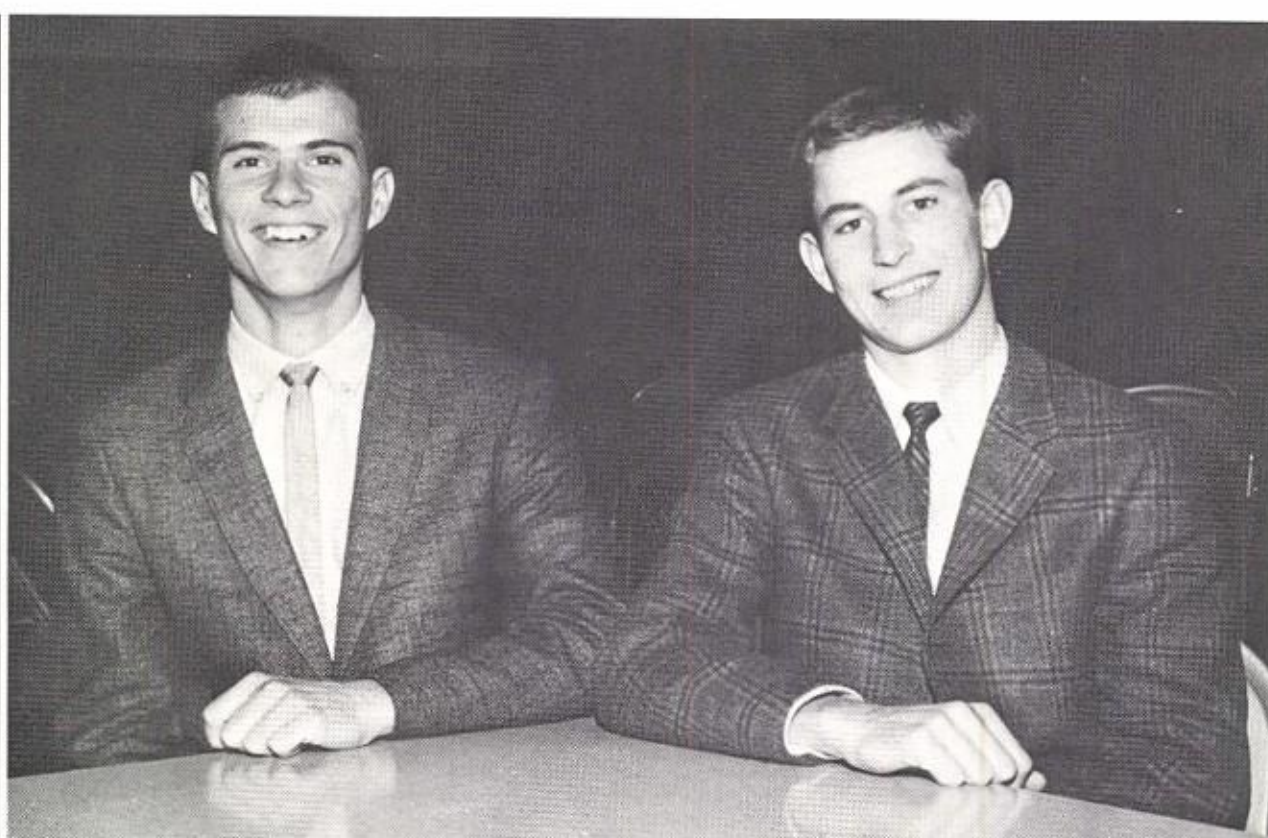

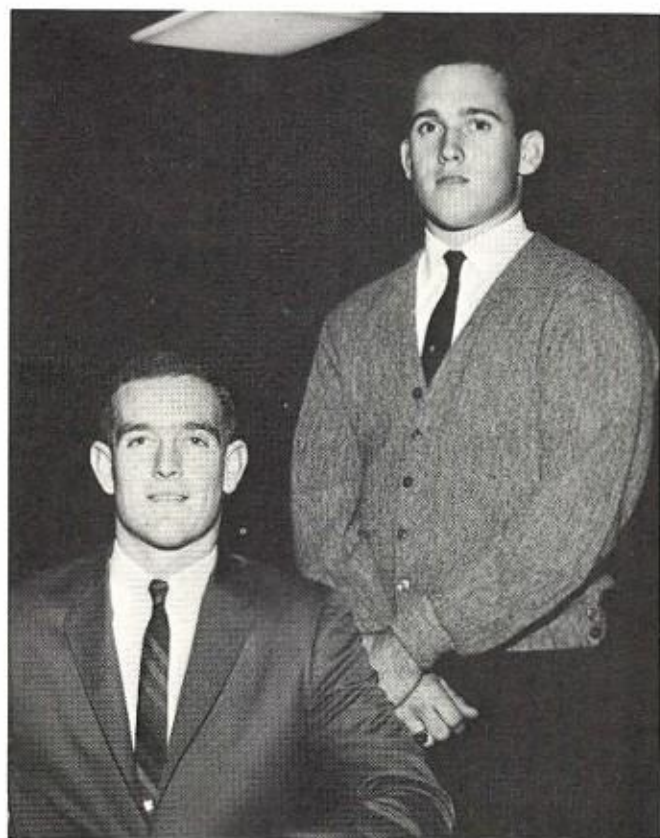

In quiet meditation of tasks to be performed, football players rest in the locker room sanctuary before contest.

yards rushed, setting a new school record in the effort. Team co-captains were Jim Ertman and Jeff Atteberry, right. Each contributed much to the team's first year efforts as Channel League contenders and its 4-2-1 record. The Varsity finished the season in third place.

Board Philosophy Sets District Education Goals

Overseeing the total Ventura Unified School District operation, as well as, working with the administrative leadership of District Superintendent Dr. Patrick O. Rooney are board members (SEATED) Mrs. Betty Love, President James E. Sharp, Vice-President Dr. Walter E. Rohwedder. STANDING: Mr. Leighton Long, Mr. Donald P. Woolsey.

General Statement of Philosophy

The Board of Education of the Ventura Unified School District believes in providing the highest quality of education for the children, youth and adult citizens of our community. We believe that the purpose of the public schools is two-fold: (1) to develop the individual to the limits of his abilities for a productive and meaningful life in an ever-changing world; and (2) through excellence in education for all, to assure that our democratic government and society will survive and prosper.

We believe that the end product of the educative process should be an adult citizen capable of taking his place in society, an adult who is educated in the finest sense of the word, regardless of the number of years of formal education he ultimately attains. He should be able to make a place for himself in the vocational world; he should be informed and concerned about community, national, and world issues; he should be a responsible individual who is upright, law-abiding, and sensitive to the needs and feelings of his fellow human beings; he should know himself; he should be capable of independent and creative thinking; he should develop inner resources which will enable him to make constructive use of his leisure time and to adapt to a changing world.

Furthermore, we believe that such an adult citizen should look on the search for knowledge as a lifelong process, and on books and educational institutions as friendly instruments to assist him in his search. Therefore, we believe that formal education should be a stimulating and satisfying experience for each individual, and that education should not end with "graduation" but should continue throughout one's adult life.

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics has always been necessary for successful living and is more so today in our advancing and exciting age. Our school offers courses in general mathematics, which are a must for everyone, as well as, those courses which lay the cornerstone for any career in the scientific engineering or research fields.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The aim of social studies is an attempt to help the student to understand the civilization in which he lives and to participate in it intelligently and effectively. World History, U.S. History, American Government, Psychology—all deal with man's attempt to know himself and to solve some of the problems of human existence, particularly as they relate to the laws, customs, and traditions of the United States of America.

Journalism students, Willa Nehlsen and Jan Buckner work on organizing bulletin board, an essential part of maintaining the hard pressed journalists' publication schedule.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Industrial arts is a curricular area that is largely an active-type program, and is a phase of general education concerned with tools, materials, processes and products (of industry). It has as its purpose the greater understanding and better control of the phenomena of industry with its processes, products, and materials. Learning is facilitated through experiences with tools, materials, and related conditions of industry and life. The major emphasis is on the pupil as an individual. The industrial arts instructor is concerned with developing his pupils as thinking individuals.

EPILOGUE

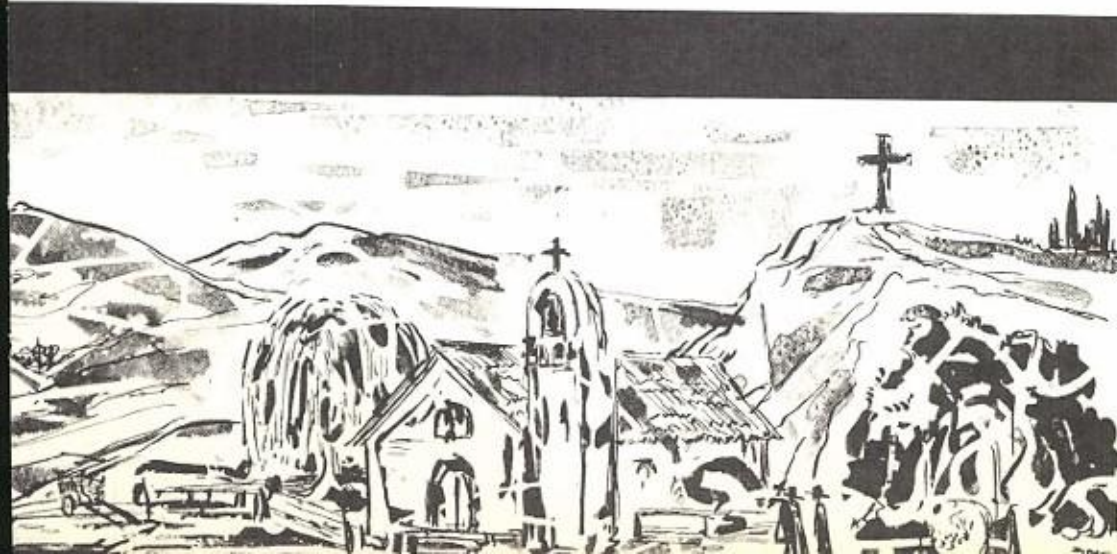

Conjecture concludes when the mission era ended. Father Serra died in 1784 after founding nine missions of the final 21 El Camino Real chain. San Buenaventura became headquarters and center for the Franciscan Order until their relocation in the San Fernando Valley area. As any effort unfolds, thus, its conclusion must draw to a close. Like the legend of our missions, it is hoped that this annual will prove a narration of the passing centennial. Forthwith, this story of the 1966-67 school year will be a recorded reminiscent reflection.

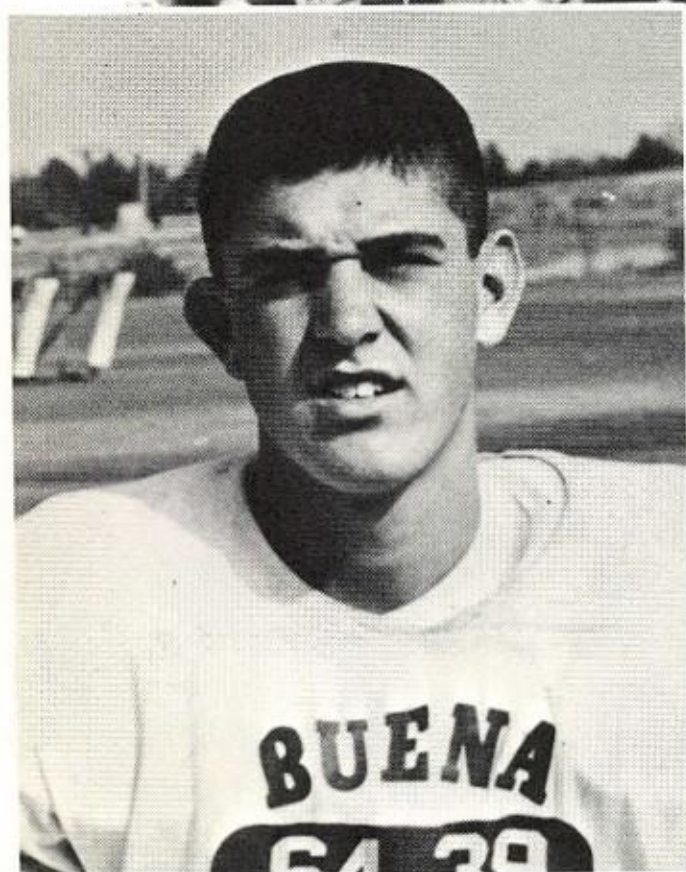

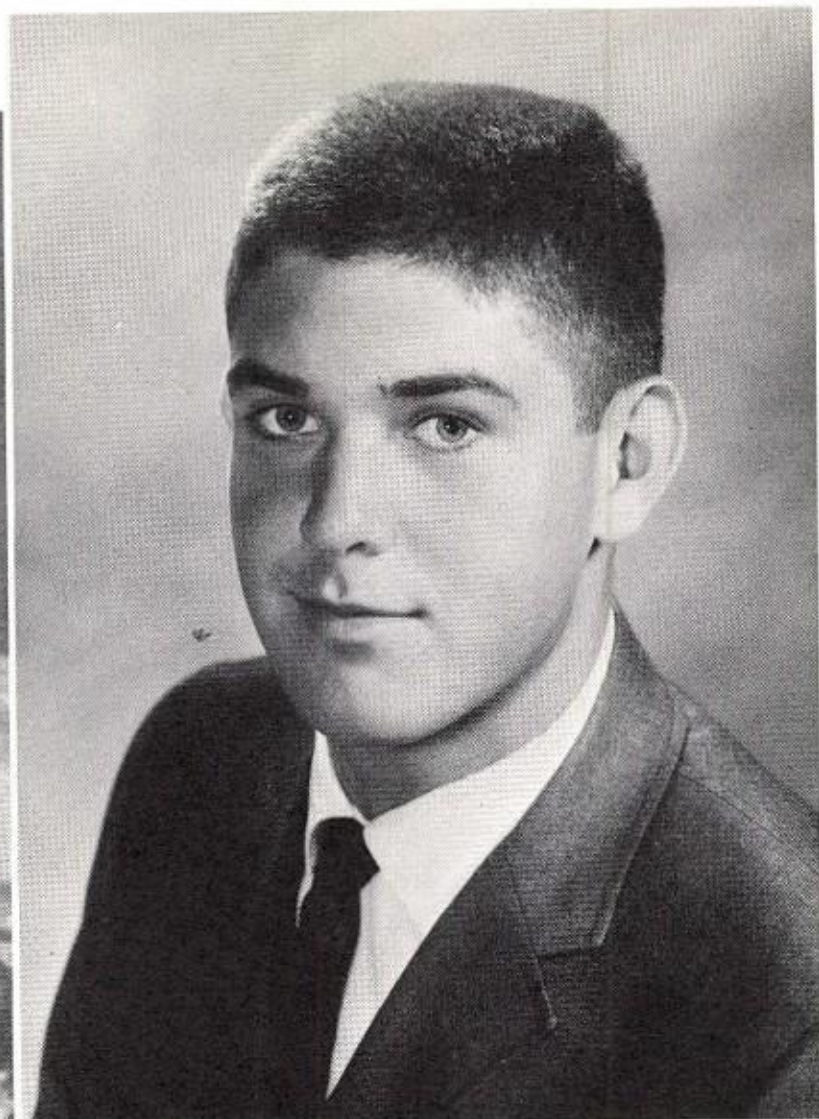

Our Sincere Thanks . . .

To Mr. Jeff Holland, photography, for his heartfelt interest, and conscientious endeavors in assisting the production of this annual.

To Mr. Gordon King who bolstered Mr. Holland's efforts.

To all students and staff for their contributions and cooperation which made this publication possible.

He was quiet—yet with his friends Jeff laughed, joked and had good times.

He had a love for the outdoors, especially his favorite sport—hunting. He had great competitive spirit, yet maintained good sportsmanship, win or lose. No matter what his undertaking—Jeff gave his all. As a senior he worked hard for Buena on the football field as varsity end. He also played baseball and basketball during underclassmen years.

Jeff possessed qualities which will always remain in the hearts of those who knew him. Friends will always remember his loyalty, kindness, sincerity and most of all the unique smile he beamed to others when he was happy.

Sally,
I've been lots of fun stay as sweet as you are. Good luck always.
Love ya,
Cathy
